Scholastic Chess has never been more popular in Canada and around the world.

Record number of students are involved in school programs, classes outside of school and in chess tournaments held year-round in Edmonton and surrounding communities, including at Greenfield Hall.

The Roving ChessNuts are pleased to return to Greenfield for the 2018/19 Chess Season with classes for various skill levels of players.

3803 114 Street, Edmonton

Chess Classes
Mondays, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.
Tuesdays, 6:30 to 7:30
Wednesdays, 6:30 to 7:45

New Students Welcome!

Classes cover topics suitable for the skill level and age of students, ranging from basic chess skills and knowledge to advanced middle- and end-game tactics. Students will not only learn chess but also train logical and strategic thinking skills which have educational benefits. They will also gain lifestyle and social skills in an interactive atmosphere with other students. Sportsmanship and chess etiquette are stressed at Roving ChessNuts classes.

Please note: Previous students have priority when enrolling, But we ask please register as early as possible or at least send an e-mail that you will be returning ... that way your seat will be reserved and we will have a better idea how many new students can join. There is limited enrollment in all classes with the Wednesday class using the main hall having the most spaces. Thank you!

Classes include lectures, demonstrations, exercises and practice games with coaching advice, and games rated by the national Chess'n Math Association which has tens of thousands of students across Canada in its rating program. There are tests, analysis of student games, homework and tips sheets, plus opportunities to play in competitive chess events.

Keen students who wish to further their skills will receive information about other learning and playing opportunities, so please provide an e-mail address which is regularly checked. You can stay updated, too, by visiting www.rovingchessnuts.com which lists events, news, list of players for upcoming tournaments, and features three new chess puzzles each day. Puzzles are good for all levels of players!

Some extra learning opportunities include chess camps, workshops, training tournaments, family chess so parents/ grandparents can learn to play and help with home chess practices. Additional playing opportunities include open scholastic tournaments, school/class team matches, tournaments for specific ages, grade, gender and levels of play.

We believe in promoting citizenship and the love of chess so there can be participation in public promotions, a chess ambassador program, a junior instructor program and special friendship/social events which may combine chess with other fun and self-improvement activities.
