talk about all the storied and fabled football programs across the country, and the name Jenks has to be right in the middle of the conversation.

state of Oklahoma, Saturday afternoons during the fall are reserved for some of the best collegiate football in the country. On Friday nights, the top high school athletes in the nation take to the fields across a state where religion and football have become inseparable.

area that boasts such tremendous programs as Tulsa Union and Midwest City, is none other than Jenks. Trojan football is not just a sport; it's something that is forgotten when the season ends. It's simply a year-round spectacular of barbecues, Christmas Tree sales and community support for a football program that has won, won again, and then won some more.

At the center of this marquee football program is the respected head coach. At Jenks High, Allan Trimble [pictured] is a legend. In his first 13 seasons, he has proudly led this team onto the field, and 98 percent of the time has brought them off as winners.

Trimble is a coach who everyone cares about and respects. Part of the reason is the way he treats and promotes the athletes he coaches and teaches. This is someone who is quick to pass the success off to great coaches and tremendous athletes, and when asked to talk about himself, defers to his football program speaking for itself.

Trimble is defined in the dictionary as "a person who gets things accomplished without fanfare and a lot of self promotion." That's exactly what Trimble has made a career of doing.

Great football programs and Jenks simply go hand-in-hand. Photos of former athletes and state championship trophies line the walls. Check out the photos and autographed footballs on display, and you'll be sent back in time.

Since 1921 this school has been churning out star-quality football talent, and if you look at the list of players who proudly wore

N uniform, you will understand the pride and passion that required for all Jenks High football players.

es such as Jay Henry (West Virginia Linebacker) and Garrett Mills (University of Tulsa linebacker) carry the Jenks flag ation, and there are many others who do the same. How about former Oklahoma star linebacker and current Tennessee T out Rocky Calmus?

is also current Tampa Bay Bucs' offensive lineman Sean Mahan, who attended Notre Dame, Oklahoma running back Keju Oklahoma State defensive end Lawrence Pinson, and Tulsa University standouts Brandon Lohr and Garrett Mills.

dition at this school is impressive, and at the center of it all is Trimble. His 10-season run as the Jenks High School footb has been replete with impressive streaks.

1996-2001, there were six consecutive Class 6A state championships. From September 1999 until September 2002, the T led 39 consecutive victories. There were two additional streaks of at least 19 victories.

le's overall record is 111-11, with seven state titles. That translates to a winning percentage of close to 91, an astonishing ss rate at the large-school level of prep football.

er Jenks team, however, has an even better winning percentage. The Wacky Pack, a Jenks Girls Softball Association team rade and kindergarten players, has a winning percentage of 1.000. The team is riding a streak of 31 consecutive victories 17-0 mark combined with a current record of 14-0).

this season was tough because the Trojans lost twice, once to nationally-rated Springdale, Ark. with quarterback Mitch M e other which was deemed an upset when this team with such a tremendous playoff history was shocked in the first round Sapulpa.

oss will drive this program in the off season, and when the 2006 campaign rolls around, you can bet that this will be a tea nd with.
