

Miguel Martinez but my Family and friends call me “Migz”. My creative experiences started at age 5 when I was given my first sketchbook. From that point on, art spread like a wildfire throughout most aspects of my life. Creativity itself became the “life blood” my mind, body and soul required to function in a perspective of peace. Art has been one of the few consistencies my life has required and maintained. I am a collector of worldwide art, a partaker of the artistic industries. I have come to appreciate the journey needed to understand the limitless range of all things creative. My respect for the artistic world was given to me through 6 generations of artisans of Northern New Mexico and I couldn’t be more grateful for that wisdom.

Hats off to anyone and everyone who carries the courage to not only develop the artistic expressions needed for the cultural and social growth of the generations that follow, but to those who also have the courage to share it! – Migz

<http://halomartine.com/>

