WEARABLE SILK PAINTINGS

ABOUT SILK ART

The silk design process is very involved and requires many steps. Kelly uses only the finest silk charmeuse. Due to hand-rolling the hem, the sizes are approximate.

First, the silk must be washed and dried using a special product that dissolves any oils, dirt, and gum that the silk worms leave behind. When the silk is nearly dry, the artist irons it flat and prepares it for the loom.

Kelly chooses the subject matter and draws an image suitable for the size of the silk painting she is creating. Each silk is unique, and each drawing is unique. The more detail a piece has, the higher the difficulty of the piece. Every line of the drawing must be transferred by her hand to the silk, after which the silk will be stretched onto a loom. Using a resist, Kelly traces each of her drawing lines once more and waits several hours for the resist to penetrate the fabric and dry. During that time, the artist will mix her dyes and think about the colors she will use in her painting.

When the silk is ready on the loom and the resist is dry, Kelly paints each piece just as she would paint a watercolor painting. Each silk is an individual, unique, original painting — NOT a stamp, screen, or reproduction!

Once the paint process is complete, there are several additional steps involving dry time, dye setting, washing, drying, and ironing. All in all, Kelly has 10 — 20 hours into each silk. The end result is a beautiful finished silk painting. Wear them, hang them, frame them, or use them as table runners. Whatever you choose to do, please enjoy them!

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Coastal Florida wildlife artist, Kelly Reark, is locally renowned for her tarpon paintings. Works are on display in Boca Grande and in Venice. Kelly designs for fishing tournaments, including the art for the recently celebrated Boca Grande Area Chamber of Commerce 2013 Ladies Day Tarpon Tournament.

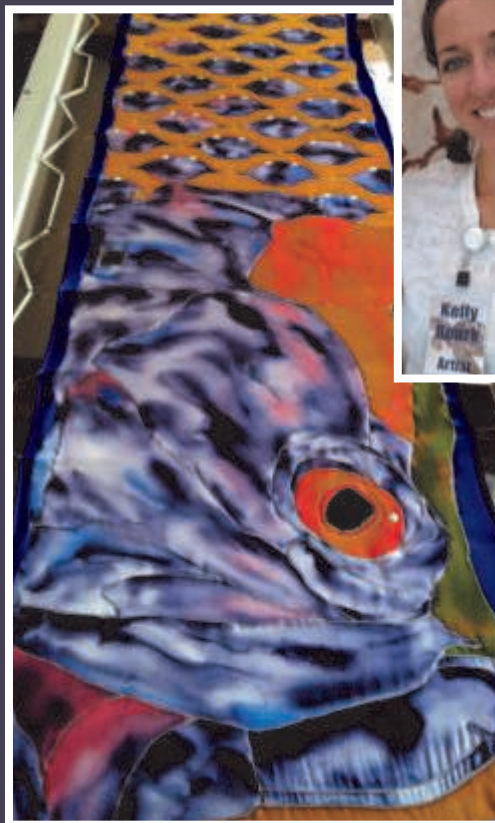

In addition to tarpon art, Kelly Reark creates art inspired by nature and her experiences as a Native Floridian. The woods, wetlands, reefs, shores and blue waters of Florida and the Caribbean that were the backdrop of her childhood continue to stimulate her brush. She photographs the fish she catches and wildlife she finds while fishing, diving, hiking, kayaking or on her SUP. Inspiration from the piles of photos, and beauty of the wild spaces she's explored, fuel her passion for her work.

Kelly has been drawing and painting for more than 20 years, and has exhibited work in conjunction with fishing tournaments and art shows since 2002. Her work has also been a feature of Marlin Magazine's Offshore Art Gallery. Kelly paints and sculpts in her home studio in southwest Florida.

Each year, Kelly is accepted into juried art shows and invitational shows. These special appearances offer opportunities to meet Kelly and purchase her work, as well as see new pieces not yet released to the public audience. Kelly's website and Facebook page offer a list of her show dates.

Unique to the Antique Boutique in Boca Grande are Kelly's silk paintings. Aside from art festivals, the Boutique is the only place where you can view and purchase Kelly's one-of-a-kind silk art.

Browse her website, KellyReark.com, to see some of her other creations of birds, game fish, natives, cowboys, turtles and other Florida fauna.
