The only Angerstein of note was John Julius Angerstein, who was born in St Petersburg in 1735. He emigrated to London in 1750 where he became one of the inspirations for Lloyds of London. A merchant, he lived in Pall Mall with a country residence, Woodlands, on the banks of the Thames. His collection of 38 paintings formed the start of the National Gallery in 1824. He lived at Leigh Park House for 2 years and was a friend of Pitt the Younger.
