Brief Details about NALTech

NALTech was incorporated at the initiative of an eminent scientist and a former director of CSIR-NAL, in the year 1993, with the objective of assisting in Research & Development and help promotion of the technologies developed by NAL and other aerospace organizations in the country. As a Section-25 company, it operates similar to a trust, wherein no portion of income can be paid directly or indirectly to the past or present members of the board.

Since its inception, NALTech has rendered an excellent support to CSIR-NAL and is now in the process of spreading its services to other organizations.

As a societal initiative, it is starting a new stream of operations named as 'Academy Support', which can channelize the rich experience and knowledge of retired scientists / engineers to support the needs of educational institutions for the required talent. NALTech is also proposing to offer the services / expertise of these retired personnel to small scale aerospace industry, for their technical needs.

Support to Academic Institutions for their faculty requirements.

In the recent past, it is learnt that academic institutions are facing severe shortage of qualified personnel, for their faculty requirements. During the deliberations in one of the Board meetings of NALTech, it was felt that since the Scientists / Engineers superannuated from reputed institutions can meet such requirements, NALTech should help play a vital role in getting the services of these personnel to the academic institutions. As a follow up to such a suggestion, NALTech is now in the process of establishing a new stream of operations, called 'Academy Support', where in it proposes to build a data bank of retired scientists / engineers, whose expertise, knowledge and rich experience in multiple fields can be channelized to academic institutions for 'Teaching Assignments'.

Retired scientists/engineers interested in 'Teaching' and 'Non Teaching' assignments are requested to click the "Registration" icon on the website of NALTech, which can help register their bio-data and indicate one's choices. The website address (url) is : <http://www.naltechindia.com>

Note : The available data of Members of HALE has been furnished to NALTech. NALTech may contact some of the selected members by them to obtain more details.
