| Message from Managing Director

Dear Malaysians,

2016 has been a transformation year for SASTRA and the projects we carried out towards Malaysian Schools. Firstly, we could not have done this without the support from Ministry of Education Malaysia (MOE) and all our Social Responsibility Innovators to ensure we had the funding to pilot the projects towards Malaysian School Human and Career Development Center & Programs since 2013.

I would like to thank everyone who believed in us and supported us towards this journey since 2013 even before SASTRA was formed. When I turn back, I realize that if everyone wants to make the difference in our national school with honesty, we can surely do amazing things for our children. I take this moment to thank the Board of Trustees, SASTRA team, schools, teachers, parents and all our partners for doing their best for our nation.

Today our nation's 141 SASTRA Bright Champs Alumni are taking the lead to help other students by transferring their knowledge gained with our programs. I hope this will continue to support in contributing towards Malaysian 2013-2025 Education Blue Print and mainly towards SASTRA focus under Shift 9 and impacting more children. Thank you

S. Ananda Devan

Founding Member & Managing Director & Board of Trustees

Do your best in what you can. Life is like music. Sometimes with loud noises. Sometimes with calming music. Be happy and do well and don't give up

SASTRA SHIFT 9 PROJECTS With Ministry of Education Malaysia

Malaysian Schools Human and Career Development Center (HCDC), a social initiative pilot project launched in 2012 with an intention to study the benefits of transforming Malaysian Schools Counseling Departments to Human and Career Development Center. The pilot project study was initiated by FEEM to support towards building a better schooling environment for pupils and the community surrounding it by creating and enhancing the school counseling department platform to cater for various stakeholders.

The Project Initiation Phase (PID): Designing expenditures, research and development (R&D) was adopted by FEEM, an independent investment firm as part of its corporate social responsibility (CSR) and later in 2014, the project was handed over officially to the newly incorporated social enterprise SASTRA Education Development where 100% of its profits are used towards education projects and ending poverty. The Malaysian Schools Human and Career Development Center (HCDC) and its Programmes were established with one ultimate clear aim, to take responsibility to contribute towards the Malaysia Education Blue Print 2013-2025 under Shift 9 (Partner with Parents, Community and Private Sector at Scale). The HCDC was aimed to optimize schools counseling departments to focus as Human and Career Development Centers by integrating relevant pedagogy and strategies that suits to close the gap at Malaysian national school. SASTRA primary objective is to strengthen the schools department and bridging high school students and industry with a platform for the students to avoid any indecisiveness and they are able to gain the necessary experience and knowledge to make the choices about their tertiary education and career pathways. Furthermore, with an aim of removing the stigma as Counseling Departments are only for "Problematic Students" and anyone who comes for help towards this center are labeled as Bad Students. SASTRA also discovered that high school children are not having enough support from these departments due to various challenges the school faces such as limited funding to carry out programs, field trips and short of competent counselors. Therefore, many labeled student's feels they do not have help and are neglected. Thus, they find them self within an environment that only their friends or other people can understand them better. It is totally acceptable if the support they received are from ethical people however, many slowly get distracted and recruited towards unethical social activities by various organize crime bodies to be gangsters, drug dealers, prostitute and also been targeted toward as terrorism agents. It is undeniable that many Malaysian realize this is happening within our reach and not many have come forward to help towards our future generation. SASTRA believes that it's every stakeholder's responsibility and proposed to Ministry of Education Malaysia (MOE) that SASTRA will commit to support MOE to mitigate the social issues by engaging towards MEBP Shift 9 mainly focusing at HCDC establishment to help schools administration to relook at how they can operate their departments by working with various partners towards a shared vision. It is time that every Malaysian takes their responsibility to help our national schools in any possible way they are able to. Ministry of Education Malaysia acknowledged our findings and approved SASTRA to carry out the pilot project at any selected schools which it feels suitable and meets the criteria to implement Shift 9 in any of the 14 States in Malaysia by stages.

GK Enchanted Farm was founded as part of Gawad Kalinga's platform to create excellence and not charity for the next generation of Filipinos. The GK Enchanted Farm aims to nurture social entrepreneurs who can help the local farmers and create wealth for every Filipino to continuously lead a life with dignity. It is amazing to see how the GK Enchanted Farm Village University has jointly shaped a combination of the Farm, Village, University and a Silicon Valley for Social Entrepreneurship. The GK Enchanted Farm Platform incorporates the land area by setting up opportunities to grow crops and how the village within the farm connects families.

SASTRA's recent visit to the farm clearly indicates and validates that GK Enchanted Farm has a similar shared vision as SASTRA's vision to work collectively with foundations, Non Profits, Social Enterprise and individuals to end poverty. Meeting and understanding the people from their view of life has brought a new focus within SASTRA to further work with GK Enchanted Farm Platforms to end poverty collectively in Philippines, ASEAN and Globally.
