About Us

Khaleel Aldakhi

Before ISIS invaded Sinjar, Mr. Aldakhi was a lawyer. Today, he runs a secret network of contacts deep inside ISIS territory that helps families escape through a modern-day underground railroad.

Mr. Aldakhi's work has been featured in numerous international periodicals and documentaries as well as being the recipient of several Humanitarian Awards.

Amenna Hasan

Mrs. Hasan, a former member of Iraqi Council of Representatives, works with her husband to secure the release of those held captive by ISIS.

MS. Hasan has received many accolades for her work including, Human Rights First Award, Trafficking in Persons Hero Award, as well as participating in several Security Council meetings of the United Nations pertaining to Human Trafficking.

Kevin Brown

Pastor Brown and his wife Teresa are the Senior Pastors of Side-By-Side Church International located in Santa Ana, Calif.

They collaborate with grass root organizations throughout the world to transform injustice locally, nationally and internationally by training, equipping and providing support for those organizations to accomplish their mission.

Side-By-Side Church International was incorporated as an NGO within the Kurdistan Region of Iraq in August of 2016. Once the appropriate goals and objectives were put in place, the work with Khaleel and Ameena became a partnership.

The next goal was to establish a collaborative network of the various entities involved in the rescue of victims from ISIS. This included military, political and the Kurdistan Government's Office of Kidnapping Affairs.

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS

Successful collaborative effort results in thirty-six men, women and children rescued from ISIS in one mission.

While all rescues are “SIGNIFICANT” for victims and victim’s family members, I want to highlight the rescue that took place in March of 2017. I have selected this rescue as it demonstrates the high level of collaboration necessary to safely rescue victims while incorporating all entities of the collaborative group.

This mission involved the rescue of 36 men, women and children from ISIS. It required coordinating the transportation of this large group as well as ensuring the necessary provisions were in place during their transport. It also required coordination with the military as well as coalition forces. Once the victims were safely transported to Duhok, the Office of Kidnapping Affairs was involved.

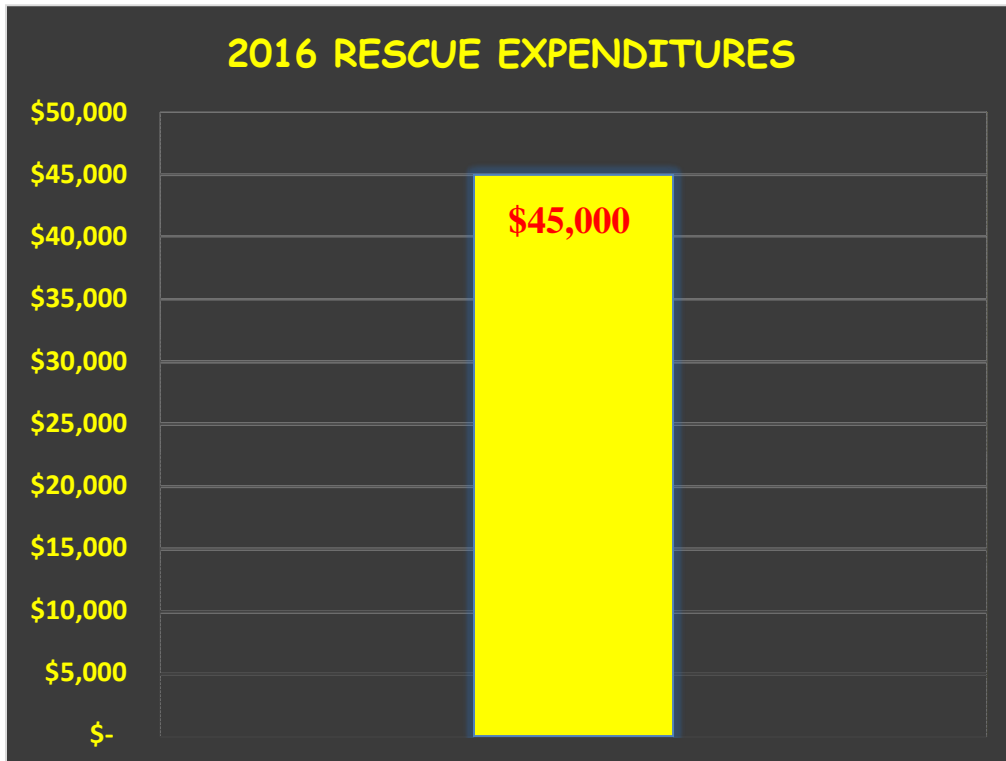

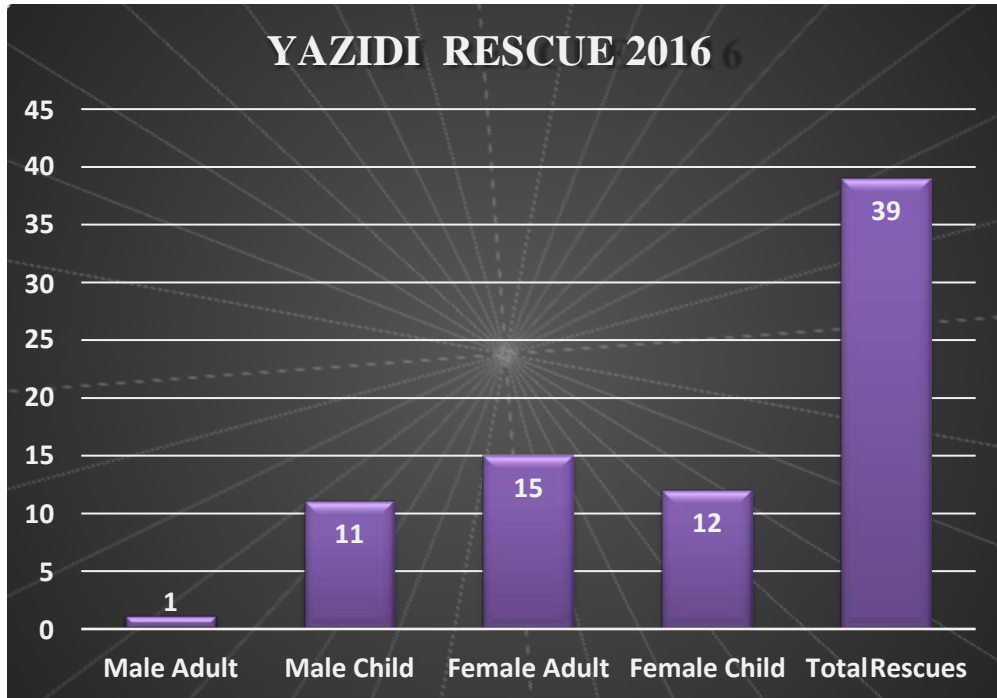

This is an excellent example of how the various entities could work side by side to ensure the victims were safely rescued.

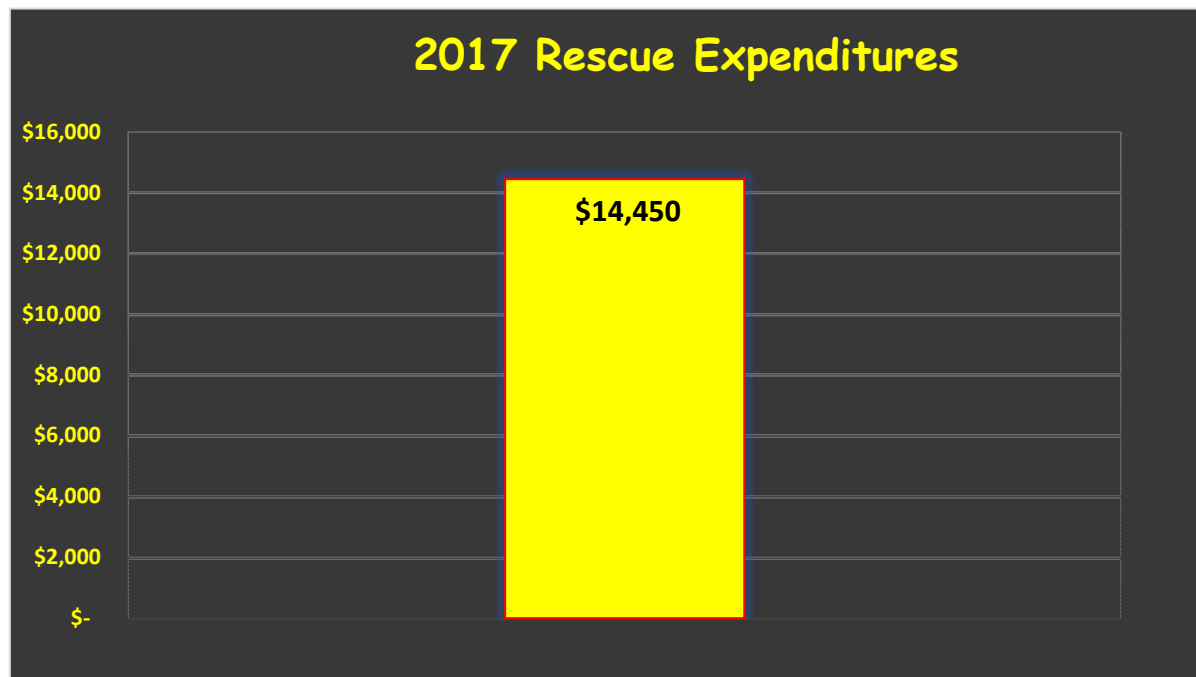

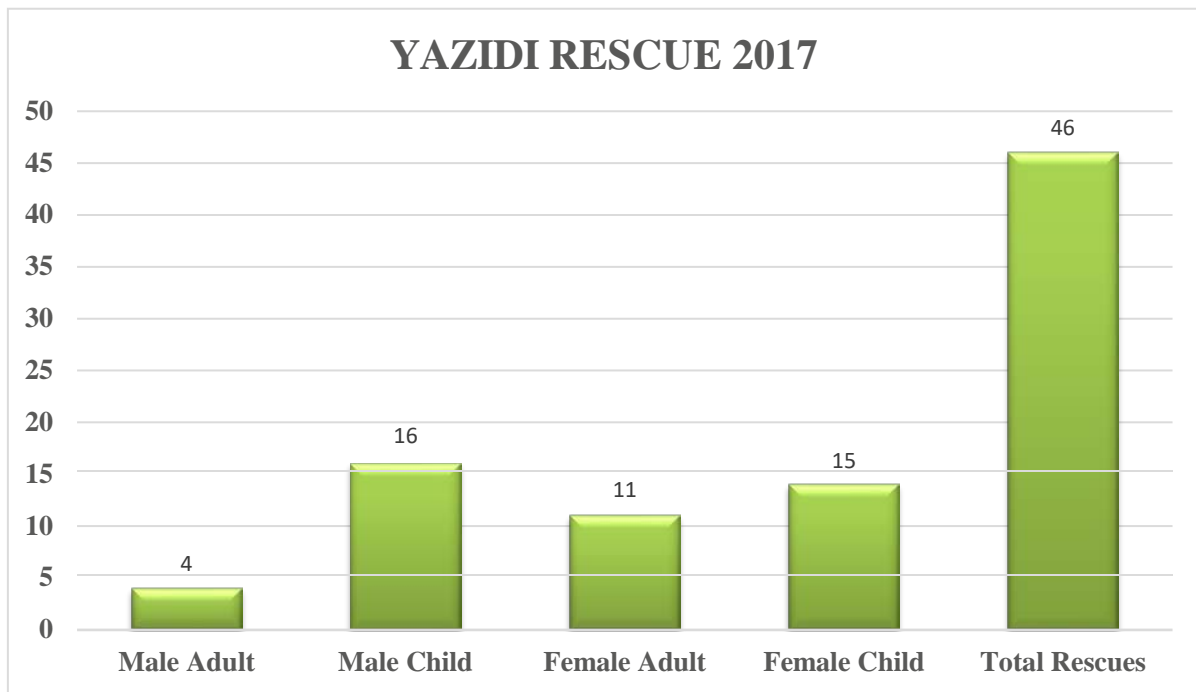

The following charts are provided to show the number of successful rescues that took place between June 2016 and June 2017. An additional chart is provided showing the total expenditures that went toward the rescue of the victims.

None of the monies involved in the rescues were given directly or indirectly to ISIS.
