MASS READING RELFECTION

Dec 16, 2018

1st Reading Zep 3:14-18a
[Joy Over The Mighty Savior]

This reading invites “daughter Zion” (Zion is the holy temple mountain in Jerusalem, hence stands for God’s people) to rejoice because salvation from all enemies and evil is at hand. We should read this passage to inspire our Advent awareness that God will save us.

Life has meaning. It can be Beautiful. ‘God indeed is my savior; I am confident and unafraid’ (Responsorial Psalm).

Readings Phil 4:4-7
[Rejoice in the Lord]

“The Lord is near.” Whatever our ailments and anxieties are (see Theme), we can turn to him. “Have no anxiety at all.” Rejoice, because we Christians know to whom we should turn for peace and happiness. This reading offers a “crash program” for your preparation for Christmas.

OUR LADY OF GUADALUPE PARISH

Third Sunday of Advent

“[John] Preached good news to the people”

Theme: “God Indeed Is My Savior: I Am Confident

(Is 12:2) Life could be compared with a doctor’s waiting room where people tell one another about their ailments. It could be the emergency room of a hospital where a mother waits with a sick child. She shares her anxiety with others whom perhaps she does not even know. This is the instinctive need for concern. Everyone hopes that the doctor can help and take away fear and anxiety.

Life is a waiting room, and Christians make themselves more aware of this during the time of Advent. All of us have our ailments and anxieties, like the rich people (having “two cloaks”), the tax collectors, and the soldiers of today’s Gospel. We wait for Christ’s coming into our lives. Hope for salvation is an integral part of the Christian life-style. And this hope is founded on our firm faith that somebody is concerned!
