

Dear Parents,

As the current COVID-19 pandemic continues to evolve, Volusia Pediatrics remains committed in serving your children's medical needs. Our doors remain open to make sure every child we care for is safe and healthy.

We would like to assure you that we are closely following the CDC and WHO guidelines at both locations to deliver the best quality care for your children during these challenging times.

As we look forward to the next several months, we encourage you be proactive and to:

- Stay up to date with your children's immunizations
- Stay current with your children's physicals and school forms in preparation for the next school year
- Not delay your baby's newborn visits

As always, we are here for you. Please do not hesitate to call our office if you have any questions.

All the best,

The Volusia Pediatrics Team
