The Eucharist and Christian Initiation

The "reception of Baptism and Confirmation is ordered to the Eucharist,… the center and goal of all sacramental life." "The sacrament of Baptism, by which we were conformed to Christ, incorporated into the Church and made children of God, is the portal to all the sacraments. It makes us part of the one Body of Christ (cf. 1 Cor 12:13), a priestly people. Still, it is our participation in the Eucharistic sacrifice which perfects within us the gifts given to us at Baptism. The gifts of the Spirit are given for the building up of Christ's Body (1 Cor 12) and forever greater witness to the Gospel in the world." Given the unity of the sacraments of Christian initiation, "the reception of the sacrament of Confirmation is necessary for the completion of baptismal grace." For by it, the baptized "are more perfectly bound to the Church and are enriched with a special strength of the Holy Spirit. Hence they are, as true witnesses of Christ, more strictly obliged to spread and defend the faith by word and deed." However from a theological viewpoint it is the Holy Eucharist which "brings Christian initiation to completion," and thus First Holy Communion should be presented as what it is, a highly significant and memorable moment of a personal encounter with Jesus.
