

ONE

Can you hold me up when I begin to fall?
Strong and beautiful, you listen for my call
Far, in the distance, I see the mountaintops
I wonder at the seas, the clouds, the raindrops
I look at the waters and up toward the sky
As I am falling, you are learning to fly
Stones beneath my feet, I begin to stumble
Pulled away from ego, I sit now humble
And, I gaze upon the flower in my hand
Waiting for the breeze to blow, to take my stand
Evergreens for Evermore, as our Lights shine
Crossing roads and paths, we meet at the Divine
Never have I flowed so much like the river
Or sat so long on the cold stone, I shiver
Will you wait for me? And I wait for you?
Out here... as the darkness transitions to blue?
It's green beneath our feet, magic's in the air
I... You have the gift of creation to share
No more need for loneliness, sadness or fear
Now, this is our ship, our life, for us to steer
Leading the Light on the edge of Golden Rays
Together we are and together we stay
What we see and what we feel, we always knew
Because it's true, You are I and I AM you.
