Financial Health and Literacy for Your Family

Raising a family is expensive enough, and having a child with visual impairments, blindness, or other disabilities can cause financial strain.

In order to help our families maintain financial health and prepare for unexpected expenses, we have invited representatives from First Choice Bank, Tustin Community Bank, Experian, and Opus Bank to provide input based on federally-approved guidelines*.

WE WANT THIS DISCUSSION TO BE USEFUL FOR YOUR FAMILY!

To receive input anonymously that fits your specific needs, there will be a drop box to submit questions. You can also email us questions prior to the discussion, or ask them during the event.

Complimentary refreshments and light snacks will be provided.

To RSVP for free childcare and submit discussion topics related to financial health, email Kevin Fuhrmann at kevin.fuhrmann@blindkids.org or call Dalit Bruchstein at (714) 642-7057.

* Representatives subject to change. Financial advice is based on guidelines of the Community Reinvestment Act and does not necessarily reflect the views of Blind Children's Learning Center.
