David and Goliath

The Philistines were at war with King Saul,
the giant Goliath came each day to call,
"Send me a man with the strength of ten,
your bravest man who will fight to the end."

Goliath the giant had a great span,
he was twice the height of a very tall man.
He shook the ground when he walked around;
when he spoke, his voice had a deafening sound.

But young David the shepherd had faith like no other,
at the Israelites' camp, he confronted his brothers.
He chided them all for not taking action;
cowering more was his brothers' reaction.

King Saul knew well what young David intended,
He said, "He can't win, he must be suspended."
David announced, "The Lord protects me,
I have no fear, as King Saul will soon see.

I rely on my speed, my skill and my wits,
I will kill Goliath with just my bare mitts."
David bent down and picked out five stones,
then called to Goliath and made himself known.

David shouted, "You come with a sword,
but I come to you in the name of the Lord.
I shall bring you down with just my two hands,
you'll know what I mean when this little rock lands."

Goliath was angry that a young boy
thought he could bring him down with a toy.
David was ready, a stone in his sling,
he slew the giant with only one fling.

Then David took up Goliath's huge sword,
he hacked off his head as the Israelites roared.
When the Philistines saw that their hero was dead,
they threw down their swords and like cowards they fled.

King Saul's army pursued them for days,
they won the battle and gave David praise.
They bowed to their hero, to their future king,
who taught them, with faith, man can do anything.
