

May 30, 2017

To Whom It May Concern:

We are reaching out to you about a chance to make a difference in the Jane and Finch community and help give a group of grade six students with learning disabilities the type of education they really need. Cuts to funding for students with learning disabilities means they have to look outside the normal classroom for help. That's where Education Involved Advocacy Group comes in!

We are sponsored by the Jane Finch Centre and work together with the Toronto Catholic District School Board. Our summer camp program, Smarty Pants Summer Camp, is tailored for students with learning disabilities. Smarty Pants Summer Camp counselors are also high school students from the Jane and Finch area. Our counselors earn credits and valuable working experience all while helping children with learning disabilities get the support education and learning they need.

To help launch Smarty Pants Summer Camp, we are asking you to make a donation. Your donation will help a group of grade six students attend a summer camp that suits their educational needs. It will also help us with our goal of leaving a legacy of healthy learning in the Jane and Finch Community.

There are many ways to contribute or donate. If you are interested in donating and/or hearing more about them or seeing more detail on the financial structure and business model for Education Involved Advocacy Group and Smarty Pants Summer Camp, please contact us at info@educationinvolved.org. You will also be able follow our dynamic efforts at www.educationinvolved.org. We will be posting regular updates of fundraising efforts as well as those of the students. Thank you kindly for your time.

Paul Raso
Executive Director
Education Involved Advocacy Group