OUTSOURCED CFO &
CONTROLLER SERVICES

OUTSOURCED ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT

Brian Clark likes getting his hands dirty. He enjoys “digging into client situations, working hand-in-hand with them to understand where they are and plan for the future.” That’s why after 12 years as an accountant, he started OnPoint to offer CFO, bookkeeping and controller services to companies who don’t need to fill a full-time position. Clients get expert advice and planning while only paying for what they need.

Clark has been providing outsource CFO services for 5 years, first as partner in Clockwork Financial Services and for over a year at OnPoint. He recently added an administrative component through OnPoint Administrative Solutions, which offers virtual office services from Greenville’s NEXT Innovation Center, including conference rooms, reception and secretarial service.

“The theory is to allow business owners to do what they do best – cultivate their idea and grow the business,” Clark says. “We’ll handle the accounting and the administrative side.”

After growing up in New Jersey, Clark attended Clemson and “like many people, said, ‘Wow, I think I’m going to stay here,’” he says. A married father of two, he spends his spare time coaching basketball, baseball and softball and squeezing in the occasional round of golf.

This season, OnPoint will donate $100 to charity for every homerun hit by the Greenville Drive and $500 for every grand slam.
