- To create our outstanding products, we take great care to ensure that every step is performed at the highest level of quality. We don't use brine injectors (to speed the brining process) which impacts the quality of the meat, or add artificial colors or flavors. Instead, we personally perform each part of the process by hand: fish is hand filleted, hand portioned, and hand brined. Brining and smoking are precisely timed and monitored to consistently impart a light, sweet flavor and deep rich red color to each batch, which is then hand packed to ensure quality.
- Our custom brine and flavor profile has been developed and refined over 20 years, which, in concert with our fine All Natural Ingredients, led to the creation of this award-winning product.
