

Who Should Come?

The target audience for this one day training camp are parents, grandparents, family members, guardians and others interested in learning about special education topics.

Why Should I Come?

This free workshop will help you understand the basic rights and protections of Kentucky Special Education Regulations and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). The session will also include how the Individualized Education Program (IEP) is developed. Tips and strategies will be discussed to help you when working with the school as part of the Admissions and Release Committee (ARC) team.

You will leave camp with a better understanding of your rights as a parent and the rights of your child as a special education student. You will also learn tips and strategies on how to work with the schools so that you can become an effective part of the ARC team that plans your child's education including what to do if things are not going well.

Camp Topics Include:

- Overview of Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA)
- Understanding the IEP Process
- KY-SPIN will present Kentucky Department of Education's IEP Guidance Document Training
- Working Effectively with Your School Team...tips and strategies
- Preparing for Admission and Release Committee (ARC) meetings from a parent's perspective
- Understanding your rights as a parent and the rights of your child as a special education student.

*Lunch will be provided.
Door Prize drawings will be held.*

Workshop sessions are presented and sponsored by: The Arc of Kentucky, Protection and Advocacy, KY-SPIN and Family 2 Family Health Information Centers.

Come spend an interactive day of learning with time to share and network with other parents!
