

4. Ready or Not

Susan realized that sometimes when that special window of opportunity opened up in life and we felt that tug of Spirit upon our hearts, that at those times, we need to gather our courage and step into the unknown whether we are Ready or Not!

Can you believe in the love that I see when I look in your eyes

I think you'd agree there's no point in hiding now, for the sun will always rise

Ready or not, I hear you calling my name

Lighting the path of my heart

Ready or not, some things are bound to change

Taking a chance right from the start

Should I explain? Perhaps you'd understand this journey I began so long ago

But I think its ok and you don't need for me to say anything at all

Ready or not, I hear you calling my name

Lighting the path of my heart

Ready or not, some things are bound to change
