

Of Mice and Metaphors

Therapeutic Storytelling with Children

Jerrold Brandell, Ph.D., Board Certified Diplomate in Clinical Social Work (BCD), distinguished professor, psychoanalyst, and child treatment specialist, will speak on “reciprocal storytelling,” a dynamic process that engages children in creating their own narratives of recovery and healing. Based on forty years of clinical experience, Dr. Brandell’s process is described in his book titled Of Mice and Metaphors, now in its second edition.

Nov. 1, 2018

2:00 — 4:30 p.m.

Reception 5:00 — 6:00 p.m.

USHA KUNDU MD COLLEGE OF HEALTH
11000 University Pkwy
Building 234, Room 219

UNIVERSITY OF WEST FLORIDA
PENSACOLA CAMPUS

ABOUT DR. BRANDELL

Dr. Jerrold Brandell is a psychoanalyst, a Board Certified Diplomate in Clinical Social Work, and distinguished professor in the School of Social Work at Wayne State University, where he currently serves as Associate Dean of Faculty Affairs.

PUBLICATIONS

Dr. Brandell is the founding editor of the journal, Psychoanalytic Social Work, and has 13 book and more than 60 articles, book chapters, reviews, and other publications to his credit. His most recent book is Of Mice and Metaphors, and other recent books include Essentials of Clinical Social Work, Child and Adolescent Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis, and Theory and Practice in Clinical Social Work (Second Edition). Dr. Brandell is currently completing work (as the contributing co-editor) of Trauma: Contemporary Directions in Theory, Practice and Research (Second Edition).

Please RSVP to:

Dr. Ram Ramanathan, Chair of the Department of Social Work

cramanathan@uwf.edu

uwf.edu/ceps/departments/social-work