

Basic Drapery Hardware

Collection Overview

Basic Drapery Hardware

- Basic drapery hardware was the foundation of what Kirsch brand was built on.
- In 1907 Kirsch Charles W. Kirsch invented the first flat curtain rod to solve a modern day problem.
- Kirsch offers the most complete basic white drapery hardware program in the industry.

Basic Drapery Hardware

- Kirsch basic drapery hardware should NEVER be seen.
- Functional and less expensive option compared to decorative drapery hardware.
- Concealed by:
 - Rod Pocket
 - Window Layering
 - Drapery
 - Cornice or Valance
 - Kirsch DDH & BDH
 - Soft Treatments

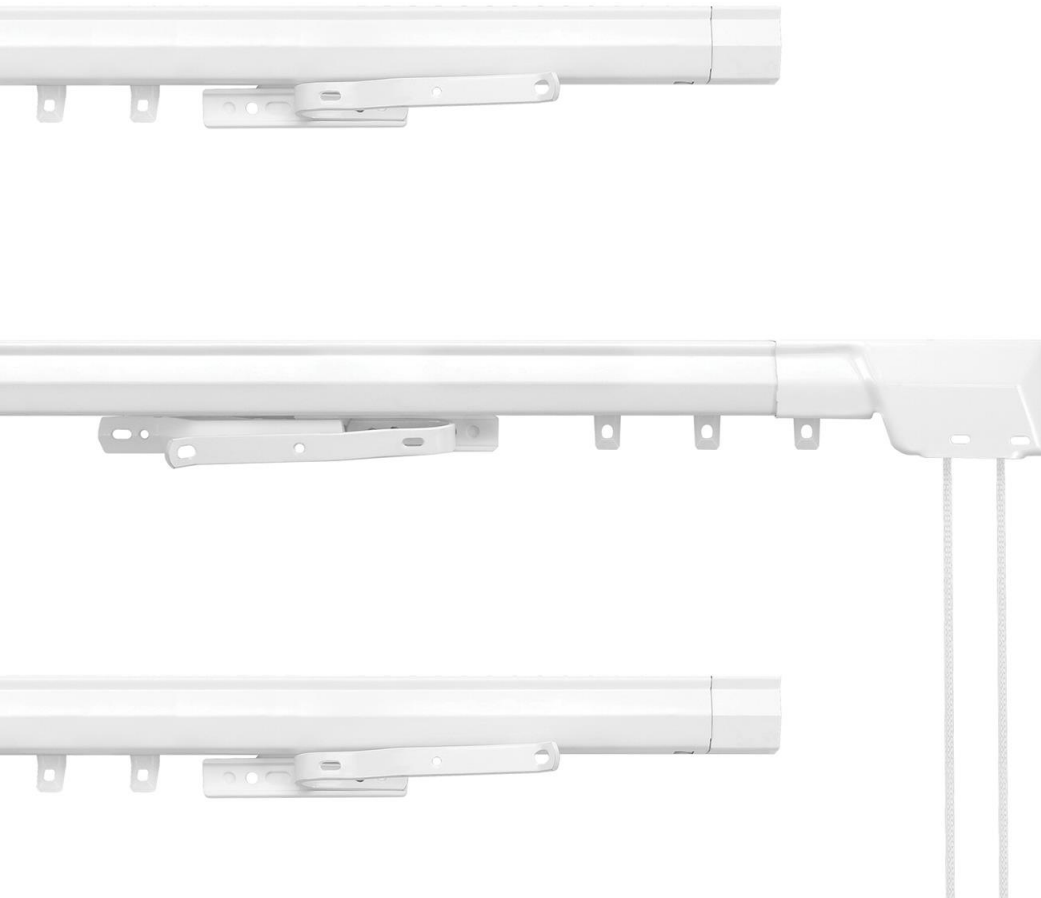

Basic Drapery Hardware

- Basic Categories
 - Superfine® Traverse Rods, Continental® II Rods, Lockseam Curtain Rods, Sash, Café & Tension Rods, Workroom Accessories

Superfine® Traverse Rods

- Available configurations
 - Single Traverse
 - Split Draw
 - One Way Right
 - One Way Left
- Baked Enamel Finish
- “Kirlon” Strip

Superfine® Traverse Rods

- Stack can be easily converted to a different draw type

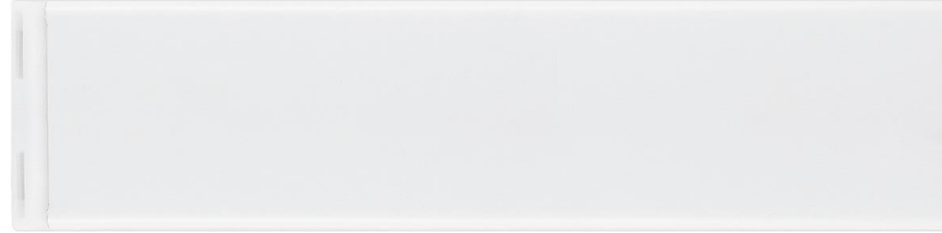

- Add or remove carriers
 - Patented end gate allows carriers to be added or removed, even after rod installation.
 - Rotate slide gate up and remove to add carriers

Continental® II Rods

- 2 ½" Rod pocket header style
- Baked enamel finish
- Configurations
 - Continental/ Plain Rod Combo
 - Tension
 - Bay
 - Curved
- Extendable Brackets
 - For extra clearance

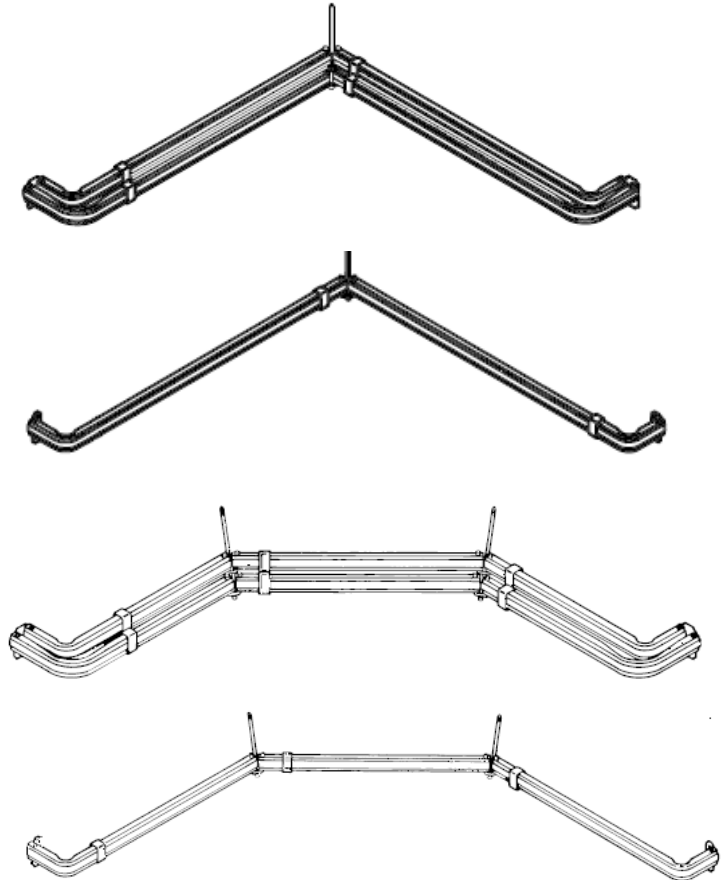

Lockseam Curtain Rods

- Rod pocket header style
- Fully enclosed curtain rod
- Telescoping
- Baked enamel finish
- Multiple clearances
 - 1 ¼" – 8 ¼"
- Variety of configurations
 - Allows for layering – one bracket
- Sheering guard included

Specialty Lockseam Curtain Rods

- Corner & Bay Window
- Configurations
 - Single
 - Double
- Fully enclosed curtain rod
- Telescoping
- Baked enamel finish

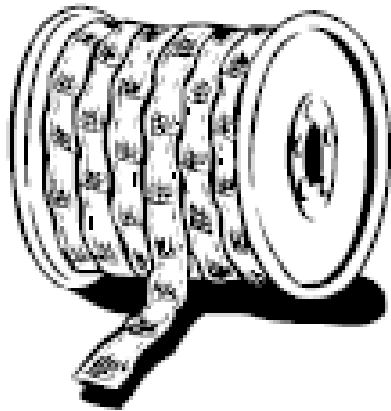

Café, Sash and Spring Tension Rods

- Café and Sash Rods
 - Minimal clearance & projection
 - Side light windows, doors, small windows
- Spring Tension Rods
 - Mount inside window frame
 - No brackets required
 - Shirred panels or rings
- White baked enamel finish
- Café rod available in brass

Basic Drapery Hardware Accessories

- Typically sold to drapery workrooms
- Used in making and finishing draperies
- Cup hook tieback holder, drapery hooks, concealed tie backs, weighted tape and more

@kirsch

Experience more, visit kirsch.com