

I love the Cultural Center most when it teems with life and activity, filled with individuals, families and school groups enjoying our visual arts and historic exhibits, community events and performances. We have lots of exciting events planned at the Center and hope to see you often!

Performing arts coordinator, Brent DeHut has put together a stimulating and diverse spring season encompassing blues, jazz, folk heritage, classical music and theater. Look inside for details.

The upcoming "Collections" exhibit promises to be a feast for the eyes, combining old and new, object and illusion to challenge and delight the senses. The show opens on May 7 with a members only brunch beginning at 11:30 and a public reception from 1-4 p.m.

We also have a blockbuster summer exhibit planned for July and August, with African-influenced paintings and etchings by Betty LaDuke and more than 100 pieces of traditional sculpture and artifacts from Africa, New Guinea, East Asia and the Pacific Islands.

KidsWeek will connect with some of our exhibits and performances, offering a multi-cultural, multi-media and multi-arts experience for children ages 8-12. Two week-long camps will feature multi media magic, myth, masks, music, murals and much more.

I hope you enjoy this amazing cultural resource in the heart of Cedarburg.

Running the weekend of June 3rd, the event draws attention to historic architecture and preservation and gives tour-goers ideas for their own restoration projects, while raising funds for the Cultural Center's art, music and history programs. Four historic farmsteads are featured in this year's Stone & Century House Tour, along with one Cedarburg city home and one Century House in the making. Performance and Class listings inside

Improvements for 06-07

Next year we hope to paint the building inside and out, repair the front awning and improve our performance space. The folding walls that enclose the Ozaukee Bank Founders Room (where performances are held) are tired, torn and tattered and need to be replaced, and someday we hope to donate the red plastic chairs to a charity, while our patrons enjoy performances in comfort and style. Please help us make your experience at the Center more enjoyable by contributing to our facilities fund.

In Memoriam

Violette Jahnke 1922-2006
The Cedarburg Cultural Center lost a great friend in February when long-time member and artist Violette Jahnke passed away. We appreciate the many generous contributions that have been made in her memory and a plaque in her honor will grace our memorial wall. A generous bequest from her estate will continue her life-long support of the Arts.
