

Consent to for Face-to-Face Services

From March 18th through May 26th, Building Bridges Therapy Center placed all face-to-face services on hold in response to the Covid-19 pandemic. Based on recent data and guidelines from the State of MI and the Center for Disease Control (CDC), we have a plan in place to again safely provide in-person services.

These services will be provided by:

- Following all recommended safety practices (e.g., social distancing, personal protective equipment or PPE)
- Strict adherence to our health policy for both staff and clients/families
- Required health screening for all staff, clients, and families prior to sessions

However, it is impossible to guarantee full safety. As has always been the case, participation in face-to-face services may include exposure to communicable diseases. If your child or a family member has co-existing health conditions or other concerns related to accessing face to face services, please consult with your physician.

Should you choose to wait to resume face to face services after the deadline provided by ABA or another therapy service, you may lose your therapy spot, but you will be placed on a preferred waitlist for Fall.

This policy has been fully explained to me, and I fully and freely give my consent and permission for my dependent to resume face-to-face therapy services.
