

St. Jacobi Congregational Church, Richfield, Wisconsin is seeking a part-time senior minister.

A successful candidate will have the following characteristics

1. Willing to minister in the Congregational Way
If a candidate is not familiar with The Congregational Way, training is available through The Congregational Foundation for Theological Studies (CFTS). St. Jacobi will support this training with tuition assistance and travel assistance (if necessary).
2. Vision of the Future
As our congregation ages, we are seeking ways to actively engage our young families and also ways to reach out to new members.
3. Evangelist
Our called minister will be asked to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ through Sunday sermons as well as living a prayerful life.
4. Sound Character
We are looking for a person of Biblical integrity who can lead by example.
5. Ability to Counsel
We are a multi-generational church. Our minister must be able to relate to all ages.
6. Compassionate
Has a heart for reaching out to and connecting with both members and non-members
7. Optimistic/positive
Our called minister should have a heart filled with love and joy.
8. Effective Communicator
9. Master's or Bachelor's degree in Divinity from an accredited seminary is preferred but not required. We would consider a seminary student.

Our church and our church culture

St. Jacobi Congregational Church is located in Richfield, Wisconsin. Founded in 1851, we are in the heart of the Kettle Moraine area of Wisconsin and we are a small, but vibrant, worshipping community approximately 25 miles northwest of Milwaukee. We are a Christ-centered church and enjoy worshipping in a traditional manner using the Revised Standard Lectionary most Sundays as the basis for our worship. Our called minister should be able to honor our heritage and tradition but also be open to embrace technology and help lead us into the 21st century.

This is a part-time position and the salary range is between $24,000 and $30,000 depending on education and experience. Questions or resumes can be directed to the Chair of the Search Committee, Bob Laubenheimer, at bobandsue1@yahoo.com
