

RR Harriers Cake Bake Monday 1st June to whenever in June Leeky decides to send his photo of his tart to me

Mary Berry eat your heart out! What a talented bunch of Mr Kipling's we have! Some fine efforts made this week, and we definitely now know whose houses to call in when needing nourishment on our long runs. Some of you put a lot of effort into this challenge, others not so much; Debbie Watkins produced 5 cakes to keep hunger at her bay in her household: Gillian and Bob Bond learnt how to use microwaves for their 5 minute efforts: if Karolina isn't running in a straight line when you see her you know it's because she's been on the rhubarb moonshine: the least about Crispin's air cake the better: Chris Hunt put his feet up and let Saskia make his for him: Jon Leek spent all afternoon keeping his tart happy: and I'm not sampling Andy Norman's Spotted Dick.

This competition wasn't actually judged, but pride of place goes to Dean Smith and Debbie Phelps (despite her Holme Pierrepont top) for creating cakes with the Harriers logo on it.

Brilliant effort and makes us all proud to be Harriers.
