"Tai Chi for Arthritis" is a program designed by Paul Lam MD with a team of Tai Chi and medical experts, based on Sun-Style Tai Chi. It is easy to learn, no matter age, physical ability or prior knowledge of tai chi, safe and effective. Recent randomized studies have shown the program to relieve pain, improve quality of life and it is safe. The CDC also promotes Tai Chi as an exercise form to prevent falls among older adults. The program is supported by the Arthritis foundations of the USA, Australia and the UK.

The program includes warm-up, wind-down, Qigong exercises, special precautions and a set of 12 movement Tai Chi. (For those who wish to continue, the set does go to 41 moves). Sun-style is especially beneficial for arthritis because it contains powerful Qigong Exercises to enhance healing and increase energy, agile steps to improve mobility, and much depth to hold the learner's interest.

The TCA set and warm-ups loosen up the musculoskeletal system, lubricating joints and tendons throughout the entire body. The slow, continuous, relaxed and repetitive movements result in dynamic stretching, which enhances flexibility, increases range of motion and strengthens muscles. The emphasis on the importance of weight transfer helps to prevent falls. Together these factors lead to improved stamina, relaxation, balance, posture and immunity.
