ABOUT

Proceeds and donations from the Abita Springs Busker Festival go to support the Abita Springs Trailhead Museum, which works in concert with the Town of Abita Springs to produce numerous free events for the community and visitors. For more information and to view photos from previous years, visit <http://www.trailheadmuseum.org/busker-festival/>.

For those who may not be familiar with the term, "buskers" are musicians who perform on the streets for tips. A community of these musicians flourished in New Orleans following Katrina, and began performing at the Abita Opry (held six times per year at Abita Springs Town Hall). Having been a big hit with audiences, producers decided to devote an entire day-long festival to this unique style of musical performance.
