The picnic last week for the Nicolet Third Graders at the New Zoo was a success. Over 80 kids, plus staff and Kiwanians enjoyed both lunch and the Zoo tour.

Our speaker this week was April Pingel, Marketing and Events Manager, The Einstein Project. This nonprofit was founded in 1991 and provides science and engineering units to give students a quality, interactive, hands-on education. These engineering units are inquiry-based and provided for 4K-8th grade students. They ship an average of 2,500 units annually to students in 141 Wisconsin schools. The school districts have made these units a part of the student's required curriculum. The Einstein project provides the materials which allow the students to create a solution to either a science or engineering problem.

Our speaker next week is Paul Zeller, Brown County Treasurer.
