Dear Parents,

The Groundhog saw his shadow lets hope he's wrong and we don't have 6 more weeks of winter, the nice warm weather we had over the weekend and Monday spoiled us!

We have a lot of fun things planned for the next couple of weeks! This week will be "Super Bowl Celebration" week. We have fun spirit things planned for each day with a Super Bowl party planned for Friday! The week of Valentines Day we have another week of fun ideas for each day and our Valentines parties on Friday. I will be posting sign up sheets in the main hallway for you to see and sign. Children are welcome to bring Valentines to share with their friends just have them sign their names the best they can and leave the front blank.

Wednesday February 19th is picture day with Lil Angels. They will start around 8:00 in the morning. There is a poster in the front hall that shows the background they will use so you can base your clothing choices on that. If you have any questions please feel free to ask.

Looking ahead to next month we will finally go back to Daylight Savings time along with St Patty's Day and of course the best is First Day Of Spring!

43 DAYS TILL SPRING!!

Have a Great Week!

Lucie
