Thanks to the efforts of a handful of lawmakers, our animal welfare laws were preserved this year in the Missouri General Assembly. In the midst of the recent assault by the Legislature on our laws protecting animals, there were a few courageous legislators who fought to defend Missouri's animals and safeguard our anti-cruelty laws as well as the protections for animals confined in factory farms. We are very grateful to the legislators listed below who struggled to defend Missouri's animals and safeguard our animal protection laws and preserve the budget for the enforcement of our puppy mill laws.

We feel these legislators are particularly deserving of appreciation for standing up to corporate agribusiness, the puppy mill industry and the factory farming industry. These legislators merit special credit as they tirelessly fought to ensure the humane treatment of all animals in the state.
