Dear Folks,

This is the day we've waited for so long and have been preparing for so long. As I told Jean in her letter, I should have something to say which would make me famous, but all I can say is that I'm tired. We're all working pretty hard now and proud to be able to work hard at this time. Funny enough, the invasion is giving us all a sore bottom. Being strapped down into that seat and unable to squirm and wiggle around will do that, you know. If anyone were to slap me on the rear I'd probably start slugging. But that's a hell of a subject to write about on "D" day, isn't it?

If I don't write so often now, please don't worry, - just remember that we are all pretty busy. I'll write when I can.

Hi, Johnnie.

Love to all, Bub
