

Holy Day, Holy Easter Week
Monday, April 6, 2020

Here we are at the beginning of this Holy Week. In Unity, we metaphysically interpret stories to explain their deeper meaning. We see Jesus' triumphal and peaceful entry into Jerusalem, not shying away from what he knew was his to do. So, like him, are we looking toward what is ours to do, on our own path toward peace. We see the crowds awaiting him as they would an earth-bound king. They were hoping for release from bondage of the physical type. What he came to teach was how to release ourselves from bondage of the spiritual type but the world was not ready to "hear" the message at that time. I believe we are ready to hear the message now.

We are going through an awakening whereby we will never be the same again. Ways of ego and selfishness will become transparent. Those of us on the spiritual path will look at our intentions to see if they are pure or if something else underlies our words and actions. We have lived from the ego long enough and that will no longer serve nor prevail. A veil is being lifted from our eyes and we will see clearly those who live from a pure heart and those who live from ego. The beauty of this is that we will still love and accept each other without judgment and look past our "sins" and "omissions" but we will remain steadfast upon our spiritual path toward wholeness and will not allow others to hold us back.

During this time of being alone, think of what you might have bound yourself to in the past. Have you allowed past events, opinions of yourself or others to cloud the inner knowing of who you are? You are Spirit in a physical body. We each have a responsibility to care for ourselves physically, mentally, emotionally and spiritually. When you realize it is time for change, you enter your own holy time of surrender and acceptance. We are all here at this time and place for a reason. Stay calm, stay hopeful. We will emerge fully nourished and healed. All is Well. Lovingly always, Judy

Mother/Father God, Creator of All That Is and Ever Will Be

Here we are on this holy day in this holy week feeling immense appreciation and gratitude for the all flowing, all-encompassing love and light being shared all over the world at this time. We are grateful for the awakening that is taking place and we pray love, light and protection over all for the highest and best. And, just like the Risen Christ, may the Christ Spirit rise in each of us, expressing as us right where we are, embracing love instead of fear and hope instead of despair. We release all, we surrender all, we behold the Presence of the Christ everywhere. We claim our Spiritual Identity right here, right now and affirm Divine Order in all things. It is with humble and grateful hearts that we say, All is Well. And so it is. Amen.
