

Hi, my name is Alaska and I'm an 18 lbs Short Hair Dachshund little girl.
I'm approximately 11 years old, but you wouldn't know it by looking at how I play with my foster siblings.

Since I was saved from euthanasia (I was dumped at the pound by someone who no longer had any use for me after being severely neglected) by the nice people at Tiny Paws Dog Rescue I've been vetted, micro chipped and spayed, and I am now in perfect health.

I LOVE to be near you and to get attention.

Going on walks and car rides are some of my favourite things to do (I literally bounce with joy when I see a leash), but cuddling next to (or on) you while you are watching TV is also "Quite" acceptable... 😊:-)

My foster parents got me to slim down to a more acceptable weight so I can now run around and play with them and the other pups (but I'd love to lose another pound or so to be ready for Hexakini weather).

I'm not much of a barker, so your neighbour will love me.

I will whine (to remind you that I should be near you) if you are in another room that I cannot access and you are not paying any attention to me, but I will be more than happy to go take a nap in my crate if/when you need to leave for any period of time (nap, after all, are the second thing Dachshund are REALLY fond of...).

So, whether you are a retired human, a couple, or a family with human puppies, I am looking forward to becoming your perfect little cuddling companion.

Hope to meet you soon,

Alaska.

Alaska's adoption fee is $250.
