Consumer Bankruptcy Questionnaire

General Information About Consumer Bankruptcy

There are two types of consumer bankruptcy--Chapter 7 liquidation and Chapter 13 debt repayment.

Chapter 7 Liquidation

In a Chapter 7 liquidation case, a trustee is appointed. The trustee will review the petition and schedules that I will prepare for you and later examine you under oath at a meeting (called a Section 341 meeting). The court will notify your creditors about the meeting and they may attend the meeting. The meeting is held approximately 20-60 days after the bankruptcy petition is filed. You will receive a notice from the bankruptcy court, which sets the date, time and location of the meeting. Your case will be dismissed if you do not attend the meeting.

The trustee has the right to make you turn over "non-exempt" property. Those assets are then sold and the proceeds paid to your creditors. The Wyoming Legislature has provided Wyoming residents with liberal exemptions for your property and often the debtor does not have to turn over any property to the trustee. These cases are called "no-asset" cases. The most common asset which funds an "asset" case is a tax refund check (both state and federal). The trustee will usually ask you to surrender sporting good items with more than a nominal value. In some circumstances it may be possible to prevent the trustee from obtaining property by timing the filing of the petition and certain other actions taken prior to filing. For example, you may not have to turn over your tax refund check if you file your bankruptcy after you receive your tax refund. Sometimes it may take the IRS longer to process the tax refund because of the bankruptcy. We will generally file the bankruptcy right after you are paid, so the trustee will not be able to ask for 25% of your net wages due on the day you file. Also, you should have a minimal amount of cash on deposit in your checking (make sure all outstanding checks have cleared when you determine the balance) and savings accounts. Please list a projected balance if you have a prepaid debit card or similar prepaid card or positive balance on a credit card (in addition to a traditional bank or savings account). The property that may or may not need to be turned over will be discussed during our meeting after you complete the questionnaire.

In exchange for turning over the requested property, you will receive a discharge of most debts. The most common type of debts which are generally not covered by a bankruptcy are debts for child support and alimony, certain types of taxes, restitution payments, court fines, claims for death or injury caused by driving while intoxicated and certain student loans. Creditors also have the right to object to the dischargeablity of a particular debt on the grounds that the debt was incurred fraudulently, you obtained cash advances our used credit to obtain luxury goods or services just prior to filing, "loaded up" on credit cards, you embezzled money, you sold secured property out of trust or willfully destroyed the creditor's collateral, or you willfully and maliciously injured someone. The trustee or a creditor may also object to the granting of your discharge on several grounds, including the fraudulent concealment of assets or perjury. The particular exceptions or potential problems, which may be present in your situation, will be discussed with you after the questionnaire is completed.

Chapter 13 Repayment

Instead of turning over non-exempt property to a trustee, you make regular payments to a "Standing Trustee" over a period of three to five years. As in a chapter 7 case, you will need to appear at a Section 341 meeting and creditors may choose to attend. I will prepare the petition, schedules, and a repayment plan. You may also need to appear at a confirmation hearing.

We will discuss which chapter is appropriate for your own particular situation after you have completed the questionnaire. However there are specific benefits which will impact your decision.

Chapter 7 Chapter 13

Generally faster

Attorney fees less

Broader coverage for some debts

Bankruptcy is removed from your credit report more quickly

Taxes may be paid without interest

Additional protection for codebtors

Claims for taxes and claims secured by collateral (such as a home mortgage and a car loan) must generally be paid in full. The unsecured creditors may be paid completely or receive as little as 1% of their claims.

Your first Chapter 13 plan payment will be due at the 341 meeting and must be paid with a money order or cashiers check. If you fail to make your required payments the court will dismiss your case. In the event that you are unable to complete your payments due to circumstances beyond your control, you may be eligible for a hardship discharge.

The same questionnaire is used for both chapters.	At this time I want you to prepare a petition draft for a filing under (please check below):
Chapter 7 Chapter 13

Copies of Documents

I will need to review copies (please do not give me the original documents) of the following documents to effectively represent you in your case:

Tax returns for the current year and two years prior
Wage statements and bank statements for the past six months
Real estate deeds and mortgages
Loan documents for any secured debts
Financial statements provided within the last year
Car and trailer titles
Property settlements and decrees of divorce
Other

The trustee may also request additional items. The trustee may also ask you to obtain an appraisal on your car or other personal property. It is imperative that you provide any information or documents requested by your trustee. The failure to cooperate with the trustee may be a basis for your case to be dismissed or your discharge denied. If you have any loans secured by collateral, it is essential that you obtain copies of the documents so I may be sure that the documents have been properly recorded. If you do not obtain the copies, I will not be able to fully advise you about the outcome of your case, the possibility that you will have to turn over property to the trustee, or the likelihood that you will be able to exempt the property. If you own real estate, I will need to obtain a copy of any judgments that have been obtained against you. Please go to the real estate records office or order a title report. Please list any judgments filed in the real estate records here:

Information about the Questionnaire Be truthful and accurate!

It is essential that the questionnaire be filled out completely and truthfully. The information in the questionnaire will be used to prepare the petition and schedules, which you will sign under oath. The bankruptcy system is based on truthful and accurate disclosure. There are significant penalties for perjury and the fraudulent concealment of assets. In addition to possible criminal prosecution, false schedules may subject you to a denial of a bankruptcy discharge for your debts or the dismissal of your case. Cases are also going to be audited on a random basis. The United States Trustee also reviews tax returns for the possibility of tax fraud.

If you are unsure whether or not you have listed all of your bills, I recommend that you obtain a copy of your credit report.

Do not sell or transfer any property, incur any additional debt, or pay funds to a family member without discussing it with me first.

Try to determine what the property would sell for at a well advertised garage sale or auction.

If the property may be foreclosed upon or repossessed if you fail to make the payments—the loan is secured and the property is referred to as collateral. Common examples—a car loan or home mortgage.

Please list all of your creditors on the following pages. Please be sure to list all debts. If you fail to list a debt it is very likely that the bankruptcy will not discharge the debt. You must list debts owed to family members. If you are not sure about whether or not you actually owe a debt please discuss it with me.

A secured debt is a debt for which the creditor has collateral. A typical secured creditor is the bank that has a mortgage on your home or a bank or finance company that has a lien on your car. Most credit card companies are unsecured and do not have liens on what you purchase with your credit cards. However, Sears and Montgomery Wards often obtain security interests in what you purchase. Please review your loan documents carefully to determine whether or not the creditor has a secured claim. If they are secured, I will need to review the loan documents. If you are not sure whether or not a creditor is secured please discuss it with me. I will need to review the loan documents for all secured creditors. If the creditor fails to take all proper steps to perfect their interest in the collateral (e.g. a finance company fails to have their lien recorded on your car title), the trustee will treat their claim as unsecured. In some circumstances this may be to your benefit--in other situations it may not. In some circumstances, a secured creditor may object to your bankruptcy if you no longer have property that was the secured creditor's collateral. Please let me know if you have sold or transferred a secured creditor's collateral. Also, if you have two or more loans with the same creditor, I need to review the loan documents to determine if the claims are cross collateralized (e.g. you have a car loan and a credit card loan with a credit union--if there are cross collateralization clauses-the car is secured by both the car loan and the unpaid balance on your credit card). If you own real estate, please list any judgments that have been entered against

Please let me know if you have not been honest in filling out credit or loan applications, e.g. when asked if you ever filed bankruptcy you said no although you had, in fact, previously filed bankruptcy, if you falsified earnings amounts, property values, or debt amounts. Also, creditors may object if you obtain credit advances or purchase luxury goods shortly before the filing (cash advances or luxury goods purchased within 60 days of filing are presumed to be nondischargeable). I need to know this information so I may advise you properly before filing. Do not "load up" on the credit cards before you file---let me know if you have. List any creditors from which you borrowed money or used credit (usually but not always a credit card company) within the last 120 days ________.

The questionnaire asks you to list the name and address of an assignee. Typically, a collection agency will have a claim assigned from the original creditor. Regardless, you need to list both the original creditor and the assigned creditor (usually and attorney or a collection agency).

!—Please be sure to tell me if the loan is guaranteed by a governmental agency or other entity. For example, a home mortgage may be guaranteed by the Veteran's Administration or a business loan may be secured by the Small Business Administration.

A note about secured creditors (this discussion primarily applies to Chapter 7 cases). A debt is secured if the creditor has the right to recover property (called collateral) if you fail to make the payments. Common examples--a home mortgage, a car loan, or a tax lien. Sears and some jewelry stores also use credit card agreements that secure what you purchase. If you are not sure whether or not a loan is secured, please discuss it with me. If you want to retain the property-in most cases you must "reaffirm" the debt. Most of my clients do not reaffirm home mortgages. A reaffirmation agreement makes you liable for the loan as if you never filed bankruptcy. If you fail to make the agreed payments, the creditor may file a lawsuit against you after they repossess and sell the collateral. In some cases, a better option is to simply give back the collateral-this is called surrendering. may also redeem property that is held for personal, family or household use. In a redemption, you pay the secured creditor the value of the collateral. This is a good option if you owe more than what the collateral is worth (e.g. you owe $10,000 on a car loan but the car is worth $6,000). You must make a lump sum payment to the creditor. If you wish to redeem collateral worth a significant amount, e.g. a car, it is often difficult to raise the necessary funds after filing unless you have a relative or friend who is willing to advance the funds or cosign a loan. In certain cases, I may avoid a lien (This is called 522(f) lien avoidance) if the lender took a security interest in household goods that you already owned at the time the loan was obtained. You may also return the property to the lender (surrender). In almost all circumstances, you have no liability to the lender after the collateral is surrendered. Your trustee will usually not ask you to turn over collateral if it is not worth more than what you owe to the lender and the amount you may claim as exempt. If the lender has not done their paperwork properly, however, the trustee has the right to bring an action to avoid their lien or mortgage. I need to review your loan documents in order to tell you whether or not the paperwork has been properly completed and advise you about your specific situation.

Executory Contracts

An executory contract is generally defined as an agreement to which the parties have not fully performed their obligations. A typical Executory Contract is a lease agreement for a car, a rental agreement for a house, apartment or other property, a timeshare agreement, a health club membership, or-perhaps a cell phone contract. In most cases do no list the cell phone if you are current and want to retain the cell phone in the future.

A word about your income and expenses. There is a "safety valve" on the bankruptcy system. If you earn a significant income and your take home pay is significantly more than your expenses the court may dismiss your case because your bankruptcy filing is abusive. Other factors considered by the court:

- ➤ Did you go through credit counseling?
- ➤ What type of bills did you incur? A preference is given for medical bills or debt incurred because of circumstances beyond your control, e.g. you incurred credit card bills because you were out of work versus you incurred credit card debt to take vacations.
- ➤ Were your bankruptcy schedules false or deceptive?
- > Are your monthly expenses extravagant?

Please be sure to accurately list your income and expenses. Three monthly expenses that are commonly overlooked: Your annual license plate fees, the monthly cost of a barber or beauty shop, and day care.

Your transportation expense should include the cost or gas and maintenance, e.g. oil changes and tune ups.

Statement of Financial Affairs

If you are married and filing a joint petition, include information for both spouses. If you are married and plan to file under chapter 12 or 13 then you must furnish information for both spouses whether or not you plan to file a joint petition, unless you are separated and plan to file individually. If you are engaged in business as a sole proprietor, partner, family farmer, or self-employed professional, you should also provide the information requested on this statement concerning all such activities as well as your personal affairs.

If the answer to any question is "None" or "No" or the question is not applicable, mark the box labeled "None." If additional space is needed for the answer to any question, please attach a separate sheet properly identified with the number of the question.
