Privacy and Cookie Policy

The web site does record IP addresses as do all web sites but this information is used only for monitoring the traffic received by the site and for no other purpose. All personal information submitted to the web site will only be used for customer administration purposes and will be kept securely by Colourfield Publishing and not divulged to any third parties.

When someone visits this website we collect standard internet log information and details of visitor behaviour patterns. We do this to find out things such as the number of visitors to the various parts of the site. We collect this information in a way which does not identify anyone. We do not make any attempt to find out the identities of those visiting this website. We will not associate any data gathered from this site with any personally identifying information from any source.

Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer by websites that you visit. They are widely used in order to make websites work, or work more efficiently, as well as to provide information to the owners of the site. If you do not want your browser to accept cookies, you can turn off the cookie acceptance option in your browser settings. Note: By doing this some areas of the website, features, and information may not function or display properly.
