Blackjack dealer questions

by Henry Tamburin

I receive many questions from blackjack players; some involve interactions with blackjack dealers. Here are a few that you might find interesting and educational.

Should you tip a blackjack dealer, and if so, how much?

There isn't any rule that says you must tip a blackjack dealer, just like there are no rules that say you must tip a waiter or taxi driver. However, let's be realistic, we all know that many hard-working folks who work in the service industry have a low base salary and that they depend upon tips from customers to make ends meet. When I go to a restaurant, whether I tip my server and how much depends upon the service I get. It should be the same for blackjack dealers.

Unfortunately, I've run into some surly blackjack dealers over my 40-year playing career. You know the type...gruff, disagreeable, irritable, grumpy, unhelpful, never smiling, and making you feel uncomfortable when you play. My tip for them is nada. I have even been known to tell them specifically what they are doing wrong and to correct it. If a dealer is extremely obnoxious (I've actually had one call me an asshole for not leaving a tip), then I will seek out the pit boss and tell them about the discourteous dealer. On the other hand, if a dealer has been friendly, courteous, and helpful, I will leave a tip. How much? Because I play with an advantage, I know how much my theoretical hourly profit is and I usually tip no more than 25% of this. (I also wait until the count is in my favor before making a bet for the dealer.) If you are a basic strategy player and you want to tip a friendly dealer, my recommendation is to tip a few dollars if you are a $5 or $10 bettor, and tip $5 if you are a $25 bettor. (See next question.)

Does it make a difference how you tip the dealer? I'm asking because sometimes I see players make a tip for the dealer on their hand while others just leave some chips for the dealer after they are done playing.

I think it's important that you let the dealer know early in your session that if they are friendly and helpful that you will be tipping them. Therefore, if they're friendly from the get-go, I'd make a bet for them on your hand (now they know that if they continue the behavior you expect, they will probably be rewarded with more tips). However, I don't recommend that you place the chip(s) you want to bet for the dealer on the outside of your betting spot (most players do this). Instead, you should place the chip(s) you want to bet for the dealer on top of your chips and inside the betting circle. The reason is if you place the chip(s) outside of the betting circle, you have no control over them. If the hand wins, the dealer will keep the chip(s) you bet for her plus the corresponding winning chips. If you place the chip(s) on top of your chips inside the betting circle, you still own them, meaning the dealer only gets to keep the winning chip(s) or whatever you choose to give to them. Usually, I let the chip(s) that I bet for the dealer ride on the next hand. If I win a few hands in a row, it gives the perception that I'm a big tipper. In addition, by placing the chip(s) you bet for the dealer on top of your wagered chip(s), the additional amount will count toward your rating.

"The dealer made a dealing mistake, which caused me to lose. Their supervisor wouldn't correct the mistake. I felt cheated and I'll never play at that casino again."

Normally, if a dealer makes an error in dealing the cards or in a payoff, they are supposed to bring it to the attention of their supervisor. The floor supervisor has the responsibility to correct the mistake. In most cases, the supervisor will give the benefit to the players because they want to maintain them as customers. However, if you believe that the supervisor hasn't corrected the mistake to your satisfaction, you should tell the supervisor that you would like to speak to the pit (or shift) boss. I would plead your case at this level, including asking the pit or shift supervisors to review the tapes of the table so they can see the mistake made by the dealer.

Gaming News

Big bad-beat jackpot

According to PokerNews.com, the second largest bad-beat jackpot in history was triggered at the Casino du Lac-Leamy in Quebec in April. The pot was for C$2.5 million (approximately US$1.81 million) and fell just shy of the record jackpot, also hit in Quebec, of C$2.6 million (US$1.87 million), at Playground Casino in August 2023. According to the rules at Lac-Leamy, quad 10s or better must lose the hand, with both the players' down cards involved. The board showed the 9 and 10 of spades and the 10, J, and K of hearts. One player held a pair of 10s for 4-of-a-kind, the other the 9 and Q of hearts for the straight flush. As for the split, 40% of the jackpot (C$1,005,421/US$726,000) went to loser of the hand (quad 10s), 20% (C$502,711, US$363,000) to the winner, 20% (C$84,000/US$60,000) evenly split among the other players at the table, and the remaining 20% (C$13,000/US$9,400) among everyone else seated in a poker game at the time. A total of 46 players at five tables participated in the jackpot and one, who posted a few photos on Reddit, had sat down at his table less than a minute earlier.

Mega Millions ticket price rises

Announced last year, Mega Millions ticket prices have more than doubled, from $2 to $5. It's only the second time the big interstate lottery, available in 45 states, Washington, D.C., and the U.S. Virgin Islands, has raised the ticket price (it doubled in 2017 to $2). The lottery claims that the higher price "will result in larger starting jackpots and faster-growing prizes." Indeed, the lottery projects the average jackpot to be more than $800 million, nearly double the current average of $450 million. The game itself is also changing. The gold Mega Ball has been removed, which drops the chances of winning something from 1 in 24 to 1 in 23. The odds of hitting the 6-number jackpot are also better, going from 1 in 302.6 million, to 1 in 290.5 million.

Bingo abroad

Hi Guy,

You asked people to write in who have played Bingo in other countries. My husband and I played Bingo at two Bingo palaces on the outskirts of London, England. It was tremendous fun! It did get tricky with some of the accents and the players were a bit chatter during the games than at home. But we just chalked it up to part of the international experience and just went with it! —Lil O., Massachusetts

Hi Guy,

Last summer my wife and I took a group tour to England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. We discovered several other people in the tour group who were Bingo fans. During the England portion of the visit six of us skipped a theater evening and instead went to a big Bingo hall for a few hours of Bingo. We didn't win any money but definitely had a blast! —RJ, New York

Dear Lil and RJ,

Thanks for taking the time to write in. I have never played Bingo outside of North America. I'll bet many folks never even think to seek out Bingo halls during their international travels. Here's hoping your positive experiences will encourage them to do so. —Guy

Veterans Post

QL means Quality of Life

Injured or disabled veterans have a friend in QL Plus, or more specifically, the engineering students and their mentors who create the QL Plus projects for veterans.

The purpose of QL Plus is to create the gear and adaptive devices that will make injured veterans more independent and mobile. The students come from 25 colleges and engineering schools across the country, and they work with mentors and experts to create the personalized devices that injured veterans need.

Some of the projects are ingenious — wheelchair tire cleaners for a veteran's garage, kayak and bike lifts and hiking prosthetics are just a few of the devices created by the students. Then there was the weightlifting hook so a veteran could complete his workout routine, and the one-handed bobsled for the U.S. Para Bobsled team. One veteran was able to play his guitar again after losing his arm when the QL Plus team created an adaptive guitar pick that attaches to his prosthetic arm.

And check YouTube for some of the group's previous projects (www.youtube.com/@qlplusprogram) as well as Instagram (www.instagram.com/ql.plus).

Veterans with a disability (not necessarily service-related) are encouraged to apply to have devices made for them at no cost whatsoever. Each project takes a full year, with design of the device done in the fall semester and the actual building of it in the spring, with completion in May.

If there is a device you need to make your life easier, QL Plus wants to hear from you (www.qlplus.org). Click on "Request A Project." They're now taking applications for the 2025-2026 academic year.

If you don't need a device but you'd like to donate to QL Plus (it's a non-profit rated three stars by Charity Navigator), you can mail a check to 1544 Spring Hill Road #9927, McLean, VA 22102.

Cocktail fare

Dear Annie,

I am planning a cocktail party and was told by a friend to make some heavy hors d'oeuvres. What is a heavy hors d'oeuvre? Also, can you make some suggestions? —Jane T. from Kokomo, Indiana

Dear Jane,

I would consider a heavy hors d'oeuvre to be one that is filling. I would include "Sweet and Sour Meatballs" and "Spinach Balls" as examples. At the same party I would also include some light bites for those guests who prefer lighter snacks. Try "Drew's Bruschetta" or a condiment plate of sliced peppers, celery, carrots and cucumbers served with a dish of blue cheese or ranch dressing. Here are a few of the recipes. —Annie

SWEET AND SOUR MEATBALLS

- 1 bottle chili sauce (Heinz or similar)
- 1 large can whole cranberry sauce
- 2-3 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ lemon, juiced
- ½ large package frozen Armor Original Meatballs

Using a large crockpot or covered pan, mix all of the above ingredients, except for the meatballs. Bring to a medium heat. Add the meatballs. Add an extra sauce mixture, if necessary. Allow to cook over a low to medium heat for at least 1-2 hours. Makes 40 meatballs. Serve with toothpicks.

SPINACH BALLS

- 2 10-oz. pkgs. frozen chopped spinach
- 6 eggs
- 1 grated onion
- 1 ½ C. grated parmesan cheese
- 2 sticks melted butter
- 1 tsp. garlic powder
- ½ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. thyme

Cook spinach according to directions. Drain and squeeze out excess water. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat eggs slightly in large bowl. Add spinach and remaining ingredients. Mix well. Shape a teaspoon of the mixture into 1 ½ inch balls and arrange on greased cookie sheet. Bake for 20-25 minutes. Serve hot.

DREW'S BRUSCHETTA

- 1 long, skinny French bread loaf
- ½ cup extra virgin olive oil
- ½ cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
- ¼ cup granulated garlic
- 2 freshly diced tomatoes
- ¼ cup Italian parsley
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup mozzarella cheese—grated

Slice the bread in 1/4-inch pieces (on a slight angle). Swab each piece with olive oil. Sprinkle with garlic and grated Parmesan cheese. Put under the broiler for a few minutes, until lightly toasted. In a bowl, mix the diced tomatoes with a lot of smashed garlic, extra virgin olive oil, Italian parsley and salt and pepper. Sprinkle with grated mozzarella cheese.

DEAR PAWS: The weather is getting warmer, and that means the flea invasion of my apartment will soon begin. I have two cats, and they suffer mightily through the summer — as do I, with my legs covered in flea bites. I'm in my 70s and can't give my cats flea baths. How can I get fleas under control? — Jim G. in Acworth, Georgia

DEAR JIM: Yep! As the weather warms the onslaught of fleas begins. Treating your pets for fleas before their eggs begin to hatch is especially important right now.

If you have issues that keep you from beginning flea treatment, please ask for help. There are resources in your community. Call your area senior center (for you, that's Cobb County, Georgia: www.cobbcounty.org/senior-services) and explain your dilemma; they can connect you with resources. You can also call your cats' veterinarian and explain the situation; they can talk with you about solutions.

Preventing fleas also requires treating or eliminating places where they can hide. Fleas love carpet; they'll lay eggs in it, beginning the infestation cycle anew. Vacuum carpets weekly. If you have hardwood or laminate floors, run a dust mop as frequently as possible. Take up area rugs and have them cleaned.

You have to make your apartment a hostile environment for fleas — one they'll struggle to live in. To do that, you've got to enlist every organization that can help.

A new edition of "Fighting Fleas" is coming, and 10 lucky readers will get a free, signed copy! To enter, email ask@pawscorner.com.

Send your tips, comments or questions to ask@pawscorner.com.

Dear Aunt Bingo

by Bonnie Mitchell

From Aunt B's archives

Dear Aunt Bingo, I'm hoping you might publish my poem. I'm sure my fellow players can relate.

An Ode to Bingo

Here I sit at Bingo again, Wishing that I'm going to win. Don't leave me hanging with one away, Here's hoping it's my lucky day. As the numbers tumble about, Let the one I need just come out. Although it's just an old cliché, If not me, let it be you today. The Bingo games they come and go. And if I win, I'll tell you so. All in all, I must admit, It's not the win, but the friends I get.

— Carol Wellhoff, St. Paul, Minnesota

Dear Carol, I am so happy to have received your poem and equally happy to share it with fellow players. —Aunt Bingo

Dear Aunt Bingo, I had to write in after reading so many issues of "Dear Aunt Bingo" with my aging grandfather. My grandfather used to be a poker player but in his old age he stopped going to casinos to play. He sat around the house playing online poker, and I would go and visit, watch him play, and we would talk. Then the government cracked down on online poker, and my grandfather lost his will to get out of the house or even bed. Every time I came to visit him, I would bring him a Bingo Bugle. He would read your column each week, but thought Bingo was a stupid low-limit game, until he saw an advertisement for a huge local jumbo jackpot game, and for the first time in months he called me and asked me to pick him up and head to the casino. He was instantly hooked. The possibility of a large progressive payout lifted his spirits! It's not like he plays to win, he just loves to play to get in the action—to sit next to me, share some old stories over a beer, and to ask some of the ladies that can still drive for their Facebook information! He is back, baby! My grandfather and I now attend various Bingo sessions around Las Vegas at least three times a week, and he has started to date one of the Bingo callers at a local establishment! So, thank you, Aunt Bingo. Your column has connected some elderly lovebirds and made one grandson happy as a clam! —J. G., Tempe, Arizona

Dear John, I'm glad to hear that the Bingo Bugle helped get your grandfather up and out of the house again. But it sounds to me like a certain grandson who kept hinting to him to consider trying Bingo had a LOT to do with it! —Aunt Bingo

Food recalls

It seems that there's one recall after the other lately, mostly for our foods. To stay safe with what we eat, we need to keep an eye on those recalls. Some of them have been scarily bizarre. The latest ones include pieces of plastic in sausages, wood in frozen meals, stones in chocolate bars, botulism in juice and tree nuts in cheesecake. Then there are the undeclared allergens, like the milk that was in tortilla chips and chicken salad, which can affect people who have a dairy allergy. And we have the hot sauce with undeclared sulfites, which can seriously affect people who have an allergy to sulfites. Then, in a potentially very dangerous mistake for those with heart and blood pressure problems, ground coffee was labeled as decaffeinated when it actually had caffeine. And when you thought you'd recover from an illness with some over-the-counter help, we had a cough and cold medication recalled for being contaminated. Signing up for email notifications is the best thing we can do right now, especially with the increase in the number of recalls. Go to www.recalls.gov/food.html, www.fsis.usda.gov/recalls and www.foodsafety.gov to sign up for email alerts. Or if you really don't want extra emails in your inbox, make a point of going to those sites once a week and scrolling through the list of new recalls. Even if you think you probably don't have a recalled item, if you've ever bought it in the past, check your freezer and cabinets. That item might still be there.

Protect yourself from identity theft

Dear Savvy Senior,

I am very concerned about Elon Musk and the so-called DOGE team getting access to my Social Security number and personal financial information through their government of-fice raids. What can I personally do to help protect myself from this identity theft mess? —Worried Senior

Dear Worried,

It's a great question! I've been hearing from many older readers around the country that are deeply troubled by the news that the Elon Musk-led Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) has been granted access to millions of Americans' Social Security records that include highly sensitive personal information.

The major concern among data privacy experts is what could happen if your Social Security number, bank account information or tax records somehow gets leaked or breeched in all the data shuffling. If your information gets in the wrong hands it could lead to identity theft, which means scammers could use your personal information to open credit card accounts, bank accounts, telephone service accounts, and make major purchases—all in your name. If you're concerned about the privacy of your personal information, the best way to protect yourself is to put a "fraud alert," or better yet a "credit freeze" on your credit file.

A fraud alert is a notification placed on your credit report that signals to potential creditors to take extra steps to verify your identity before extending credit in your name. While a credit freeze completely restricts access to your credit report, essentially preventing anyone from opening new accounts in your name without your explicit authorization.

A credit freeze provides much stronger protection than a fraud alert, but there is a drawback. When you freeze your credit, you won't be able to open new credit cards or get a new loan while the freeze in place. It does not, however, prevent you from using the credit cards you already have open.

If you do need to get a new credit card or some type of loan, you can always lift the freeze on your account until you get the card or loan approved, and then refreeze it.

You'll also be happy to know that a credit freeze is completely free to put in place and lift, as are fraud alerts. And neither action will affect your credit score.

FRAUD ALERT SET-UP

To set up a fraud alert, you'll need to contact one of the three major credit reporting bureaus – Equifax, Experian and TransUnion – either by phone, online or by mail. You only need to contact one of these agencies, and they will notify the other two. Here's the phone and website contact information for each of the three bureaus.

- * Equifax: 800-685-1111 or Equifax.com/personal/credit-report-services
  - * Experian: 888-397-3742 or Experian.com/help
  - * TransUnion: 888-909-8872 or TransUnion.com/credit-help
- If you haven't been a victim of identity theft, you'll need to set up an "initial fraud alert," which lasts for one year, although you can renew it for additional one-year periods.

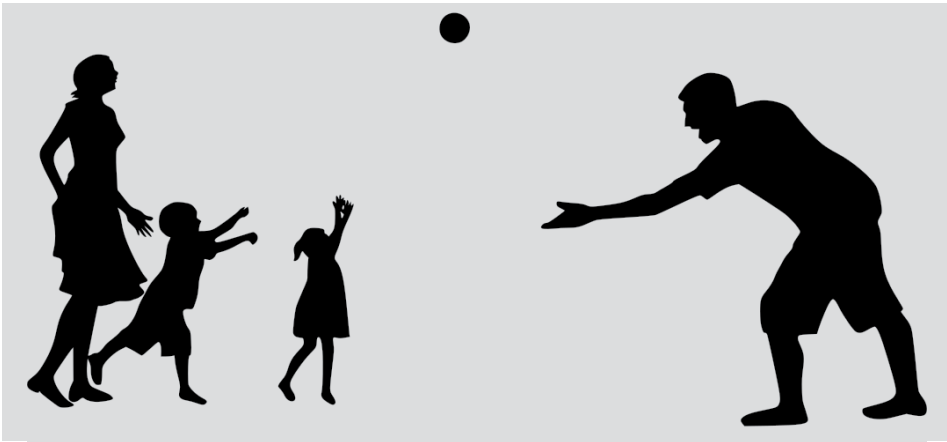

CREDIT FREEZE SET-UP

To set up a credit freeze you'll need to contact each of the three previously listed credit reporting bureaus – Equifax, Experian and TransUnion. A credit freeze lasts until you unfreeze it. But remember, before you apply for new credit card or loan, you'll need to temporarily lift the security freeze by following the procedures from each of the credit reporting bureaus where you placed the freeze.

If, however, you don't want to set up a fraud alert or credit freeze, you can still keep an eye on your credit file by reviewing your credit report regularly. You can get a free credit report each week from Equifax, Experian and TransUnion by going to AnnualCreditReport.com.

Patricia covered every single square on her bingo card in 38 calls. It only took 38 numbers, which was a rare and exhilarating moment at Little Canada Bingo Hall. One for the record books!!!

Poker Talk

by Jonathan Little

A costly poker mistake

As I was watched the final table of the $10,000 buy-in World Series of Poker (WSOP) Main Event, I noticed that many of the players had a clear, easily fixable, leak in their strategy that will make it difficult for them to succeed in the long run. Their mistake is that they raise with far too many hands from early position!

Within the first few hands at the WSOP final table, three different players raised with trashy hands from early position, the worst being with the 10c9h. It may be fun and make you feel powerful to raise with two somewhat reasonable cards from early position, but you must realize that you are taking your hand and playing it from out of position against the best of the remaining hands at the table.

If you think about this logically, each player yet to act will have a premium top 10% hand 10% of the time. This means that if you are raising into six players, they will each not have a premium hand 90% of the time. You then multiply .90 x .90 five times to see how often someone yet to act will have a premium hand. So, 53% of the time someone will not have a premium hand, which means 47% of the time, someone will have a premium hand, putting the junky initial raising hand in awful shape.

While this may not seem too bad, the cutoff and button can play more than only premium hands due to their positional advantage. The big blind also gets to play a wider range profitably due to getting excellent pot odds.

When you work this math out, the preflop raise from early position may only steal the blinds 15% of the time, which is not often at all. Do you think that you can profitably play a marginal hand from out of position when you are in rough shape when you get called?

To make matters even worse, at the WSOP final table, some players have a shallow stack. On the first hand at the final table, a player raised the Kd6d and was pushed all in by the small blind’s 8s8c. The King-Six then folded, which may not seem too costly, but if you consistently bleed off a few big blinds due to raising with marginal junk from early position, you will have a difficult time accumulating a large chip stack unless your opponents are especially tight and passive, which is rarely the case in today’s poker games.

With $10,000,000 up top, which is what last year’s winner was slated to win, small mistakes can potentially cost you thousands, if not millions, of dollars.

What’s New in Nevada

South Point catering to seniors

In a rare move in today’s Las Vegas, South Point recently introduced “50+ Prime Time Mondays,” a promotion geared at those 50 years and older. Every Monday, seniors get half-point dining (other than at Baja Miguel’s and Primarily Prime Rib, both closed on Mondays) and half-point bingo. In addition, on Wednesdays and Thursdays, South Point’s Century 16 movie theater is charging only $4 admission for 50 and up (with Free Club card). Senior promotions used to be common, but they went the way of cathode-ray tubes.

New movies announced for Sphere

Rumors have been floating around for a while about a new version of The Wizard of Oz being produced for the giant screen at Sphere and now it’s official. Sphere Entertainment has announced that it will “launch a fully immersive version of the 1939 film that will maintain the integrity of the original, while pushing the boundaries of Sphere’s experiential medium.” In addition, Sphere Studios is developing a new documentary, From the Edge, which will focus on five extreme athletes: surfer, rock climber, BASE jumper, skier, and free diver. From the Edge will debut next year and The Wizard of Oz will premiere in August.

Fountainsbleau Collins Bar in Top 10

FoodandWine.com has issued a list of the Top 10 Hotel Bars in the U.S.,

selected by its “panel of drink experts, who’ve spent plenty of time at the best hotel bars in the country.” Fountainsbleau’s Collins bar, just off the lobby with live piano most nights, was ranked number six. It was the only hotel bar in Las Vegas to make the list. New York had two bars of the 10, including the number-one best, the King Cole Bar at the St. Regis Hotel, with one each in Dallas, Nashville, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., New Orleans, Detroit, and Chicago.

Lionel Richie adds dates

Lionel Richie, one of the Encore Theater’s longest-running and most successful headliners, has added six dates in October to his “Lionel Richie: King of Hearts” residency schedule: October 15, 17, 18, 22, 24, and 25. Richie, who has racked up more than 125 million album sales, an Academy Award for Best Original Song (“Say You, Say Me”), four Grammys, and a Golden Globe, has also performed more than 50 sold-out concerts since launching his residency at Encore in 2019.

Rare flush in Vegas

This April a lucky Club Serrano member from Garland, Texas—visiting Palms Casino Resort Las Vegas for the very first time—hit an incredibly rare Face Up Pai Gow Poker hand: a seven-card, jack-high straight flush in hearts. The stunning hand triggered the progressive jackpot, awarding more than $897,000 to the guest.
