"We Said - They Said": What School Districts Wish Parents Knew and Vice Versa

Did you ever felt like the person across from you at CSE meetings "just doesn't get it?" Have you ever hoped that person would understand your perspective? Jointly led by a long-time parent advocate and experienced CSE administrator, this unique, honest, "no holding back" workshop will give the participants the inside scoop on what CSE members are thinking, what improves communication and what causes conflicts. They will also offer practical advice to help both parents, administrators and other CSE meeting participants increase understanding and work effectively for the benefit of the student. As we all know, effective communication is essential to positive student outcomes and certainly reduces the stress at CSE meetings. Don't miss this one!
