

McDonie Scottish Highlands Golf Adventure

June 1-10, 2021

Dave McDonie asked our company to organize a trip to Ireland and it was such a success that he's asked us to organize another trip, this time we'll go to where the game began, Scotland! The country has over 500 courses to choose from but some of the best are located in the Scottish Highlands and that is where this trip will take you. The Highlands experiences a maritime climate with cool summers and mild winters. It is one of the driest locations in Scotland and offers ideal terrain for golf courses. Almost all the courses you'll play are traditional Links Courses and will include rounds on Royal Dornoch, Nairn, Castle Stuart and more. The trip includes three nights in Dornoch, four nights in Inverness and the final two nights in Carnoustie. That's right, the trip will be capped off at one of the game's most historic and challenging venues, Carnoustie!

This trip combines rounds on several of the World's Top 100 Courses (Royal Dornoch, Castle Stuart & Carnoustie) with rounds at lesser known but outstanding links courses (Brora, Nairn, Fortrose & Rosemarkie, Carnoustie Buddon & Carmoustie Burnside). And you'll be expected to walk, some courses have caddies, others don't, but you can always rent a trolley.

Accommodations have been selected at mid-range hotels. These are closer to what Americans would categorize as three stars, not fancy and some rooms may be small, but they are clean & comfortable. Each hotel is within walking distance of restaurants & pubs. So, you'll be able to explore the local villages and towns where these hotels are located without the hassle of having to take a taxi.

This trip also provides transfers to most of the golf courses. You won't need it for Dornoch and Carnoustie as the hotels are an easy walk to the club houses. However, a small bus will transfer the group to all the other courses and to/from the hotels and airport. This will allow you to sit back and enjoy beautiful scenery found throughout the Scottish Highlands.

Additional Information:

Please fly in & out of Edinburgh International Airport(EDI). (Flights are not included in package price). Your driver will pick you up at 10am, so try to book a flight that arrives close to 9am to have time to collect your bags and pass through customs.

Flights into Edinburgh(EDI) depart from the US in the evening and fly overnight, you arrive in Scotland the next day. In order to arrive on Tuesday, June 1, 2021 you will need to depart on Monday, May 31, 2021.

In Scotland, golfers walk and most courses only offer limited availability of carts. Although most golfers walk, few actually carry their clubs, most rent golf trolleys, which are available in all golf shops at about £5 - £10 per round.

Caddies are available at most courses however, they should be booked in advance. A Caddie will greatly add to your golf experience and really help especially since this will be the first time most have played these courses. You can expect to pay approximately £40 -£50 per bag plus gratuity, typically between 10% – 20% but at your discretion. We will send all participants a caddie request email about six months prior to the trip, this way we'll be sure to get your requests in early.

You'll spend 9 nights in three different hotels located only about a 5-10 minute walk from several restaurants & pubs in Dornoch, Inverness and Carnoustie. Unlike the Ireland trip some of you took with us last year, this trip offers a choice of double occupancy or single occupancy package options. The double occupancy rooms will have two twin size beds.

This trip is limited to only 16 golfers; we suggest you reserve your place as soon as possible!

A $500 deposit is required to register for this trip and it is due now. After that we will bill you in four installments for the remaining balance. We accept MasterCard, Visa or you may pay with a check.

Golf

Brora Golf Club – There is no better course to start your Scottish Golf Adventure than Brora. Located in the northern Scottish highlands, the unpretentious links of Brora occupy an ancient tract of farming land alongside the North Sea and enjoy spectacular views across the water to the distant purple hills. The club opened in 1891 (originally nine holes) and was lengthened to 18 holes around 1900. Five time Open champion James Braid redesigned the course in 1924, and the course remains mostly unchanged from that era. Brora contains all the characteristics of the Scottish seaside links – and the layout is classic. An easy opening hole, a short hole facing each cardinal point of the compass, a hole you can't reach in two shots, and the last green under the clubhouse window.

It also contains some characteristics you might not expect, like tiny electric fences that surround the green complexes to keep the sheep off of them. But this is only one small element of the charm that is Brora Golf Club. The course ensures you use every club in the bag and that you'll have to adapt and manufacture according to whether the course is running fast or slow, with the greens throughout renowned for their texture. The rough is negligible in order to facilitate play, so you ought to return home with all the golf balls you brought. Overall, the golf course is a holiday treat, the clubhouse is modern and comfortable and the catering is excellent. But the most overriding, all-important feature, is the warm, friendly and welcoming atmosphere..

Royal Dornoch Golf Club - Struie Course There are many admirers of Royal Dornoch Struie Course, which is ranked in the UK top 50 links courses. The course originally opened as a 12 hole Ladies course in 1899 and opened to the present 18 holes in 1999. The work of Donald Steel and his design team back in the 1990s encapsulates natural Scottish Links golf, working with the natural landscape, local plant and wildlife, the layout incorporates many of the unique Dornoch features. It is a fitting neighbor to the Championship course and at just under 6200 yards in length it is a traditional links course with narrow fairways, bunkers, thick gorse bushes and fast greens. Most vacationing golfers consider the Struie to be a warm up track conveniently located next to the Championship Links. But the locals who have the pleasure of playing it on a regular basis know that it is a challenge in itself and well worth the green fee.

Royal Dornoch Golf Club - Championship Course - Royal Dornoch has been named the second best in the World by Golf Digest, pipped only by Northern Ireland's Royal County Down and placed three spots ahead of St Andrews' famous Old Course. Dornoch's members include legends of the game Greg Norman, Ernie Els and Tom Watson and more. Royal Dornoch is as much-loved for its technical difficulty as it is for its scenery. The views are stunning. Whether you look up the striking coastline to the north, inland to the mountains or out along the silvery beaches that bound the course, the vistas are captivating. Many believe that the golf course is one of Scotland's very finest links golf courses and that if it hadn't been for its location in The Highlands that it would have hosted many Open Championships. Anyone who has played it could not fail to agree.

Many a local will deliberately play short here, rather than risk missing the green either side with the resulting shenanigans that often entails. The layout forges out from the town, skirting gorse-covered sand hills. That gorse provides a persistent threat while sloping fairways and undulating greens with devilish run-offs add to the challenge. The track climbs to the top of the old dunes and back down to the coast before turning for home and into the prevailing winds. Tom Watson says, "It's the most fun I've ever had on a golf course."

Fortrose and Rosemarkie Golf Course - Located on the Chanonry Peninsula in the 'Black Isle' our Scottish links golf course enjoys breathtaking views over the Moray Firth, very close to the City of Inverness. Course architect James Braid's remarkable achievement in designing 18 challenging holes within the narrow Chanonry peninsula is instantly obvious and admired by first-time visitors. Modern-day golf writers enthuse over the course layout and condition, with accolades such as 'a gem of a course by the sea' - 'the smallest but perhaps the brightest jewel in the Highlands' golfing crown' - 'one of the most pleasant rounds of golf in the north' - 'a unique course with a special character to be found nowhere else'.

Nairn Golf Club - Ranked number 11 in the list of Top 100 Courses in Scotland (Golf World Magazine), this Traditional Scottish Golf Links Course was created from a Highland wilderness of gorse and heather, and tests the talents of professional and amateur alike. Founded in 1887, it is now one of the best courses in Scotland, and has hosted a large number of important championships. Nairn Golf Club is a private members golf club founded in 1887 and made up of 1300 members. Visitors receive a warm welcome and are encouraged to come and enjoy "The Nairn Experience". Once you've tackled the challenging links it will leave you wanting to come back again and again.

Castle Stuart Golf Links - Gil Hanse has designed a Modern Classic in the Highlands and it is Castle Stuart. With a strategic design philosophy modeled on the ultimate links that is the Old Course at St. Andrews -- wide fairways, big greens, minimal rough -- it represented a welcome respite from the penal, one-dimensional and long grass-covered tracks so often found in professional golf on both sides of the Atlantic. The course is set over a fabulous stretch of coastline with a number of the most striking holes played right along the water's edge. Luke Donald(2011), Jeev Milkha Singh(2012), Phil Mickelson(2013) and Alex Noren(2016) all have fond memories of Castle Stuart as this is where they all became Champions of the Scottish Open!

Carnoustie Golf Club - Burnside - The Burnside oozes character and from the back tees is a splendid test of golf. Many of the short holes could grace the top links courses around with the 5th and 14th in particular providing dramatic challenges for the player who strives to gain his par 3. The finish is also strong with the 17th proving to be one of the hardest par 4's that can be found anywhere in golf and many a score has been ruined by the out of bounds fence at the 18th.

Carnoustie Golf Club - Championship - The Championship Course has hosted eight Open Championships, one Women's British Open and two Seniors Open making it one of the very few to have done so in the UK. It is one of the three courses used for the annual Dunhill Links, the others being Kingsbarns and the Old Course in St Andrews and in 2018 The Open Championship returned to the course. In 2018, the Championship Course was voted Best Golf Course in Scotland over £100 by the general public, the second time it has won the award in the past three years.
