St Andrews Day 2025

(explanation of the service)

"Kirk" is the Scottish word for "church."

Tartans, with their distinctive plaid, represent specific Scottish clans, regions, or regiments.

The "Kirkin' O' The Tartans" is the presentation of a Scottish family's symbol, its tartan, at church for blessing.

After Bonnie Prince Charlie's Scottish forces were defeated by the English in 1746 in the Battle of Culloden, the wearing of tartans and the playing of bagpipes
were forbidden in Scotland for many years.

Wearing or displaying of tartans was punishable by death in an attempt to wipe out their historical identities. They resisted.

During those years, some Scots wore concealed pieces of their tartan when they attended church.

At a particular point in the worship service, they would secretly touch their hidden tartan cloth, and the minister would offer a blessing.

The first formal "Kirkin" in America was conducted at New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C., in 1941. Their minister at the time was Presbyterian Dr. Peter Marshall, born in Scotland, who was also Chaplain of the United States Senate.
Today, we adapt this tradition to our own North American setting.

Not only do we celebrate our Scottish theo-ethnic heritage by presenting fabrics and tokens for blessing, but we rejoice in the image of God in all the people of the world
by bringing forward symbols of our diverse backgrounds for inclusion in this blessing.

The three churches which gather here this morning share in this Scottish theological heritage. However, their bond is deeper than even that.

All three churches were founded by Pastor I. O. Sloan,
First Presbyterian Church of Bismarck in 1873,
First Presbyterian Church of Mandan in 1881,
and Glencoe Sloan Memorial Church in 1885.

Glencoe Sloan has the distinction of being the oldest church in North Dakota, where they still hold worship services in the original building!

Meditation:

*O God, we pray for a broader vision of the needs of humanity,
and a deeper compassion to fill those needs;
for a planting of the seeds of concern for all humanity
in our hearts; for a tapping of the wells of generosity.*

May we live together as people who have been forgiven a great debt.

May we be gentle, walking softly with one another.

May we be understanding, lest we shall add to the world's sorrow or cause to flow needless tears. May we be as anxious for the rights of others as we are for our own.

May we be as eager to forgive as we are to seek forgiveness.

May we know no barriers of creed or race or sex, that our love may be like Yours—a love that sees all people as Your children and our kin. May we be ministers of humanity.

Procession “Highland Cathedral” Lisa McEvers

The Scottish Procession on St. Andrews Day is traditionally led by the Beadle - a lay official of a church, carrying the Holy Scriptures. Historically, especially in poor churches, the Bible was not only the church's most important religious item, it was often also the most valuable possession the church had. The Beadle was charged with keeping the Bible safe in and out of worship.

Call to Worship Nancy Legerski, Lay Pastor

L: From there to here, every step of the way, God has led us.

P: Around every obstacle, through every barrier, God has made a way.

L: When we knew where we were going, and when we only thought we knew –

P: God has cast light upon our path so that each footstep would fall on solid ground.

L; T'was grace that brought us safe thus far

P: And grace shall lead us home.

All: Let us praise our unfailing God!

Opening Hymn

“This Is My Song”

(tune of Be Still My Soul)

Lyrics: *Lyrics by Lloyd Stone (To the melody of Finlandia)

This is my song, O God of all the nations,
A song of peace for lands afar and mine.
This is my home, the country where my heart is;
Here are my hopes, my dreams, my holy shrine;
But other hearts in other lands are beating
With hopes and dreams as true and high as mine.
My country's skies are bluer than the ocean,
And sunlight beams on cloverleaf and pine.
But other lands have sunlight too and clover,
And skies are everywhere as blue as mine.
Oh, hear my song, O God of all the nations,
A song of peace for their land and for mine.

Invitation to Confession

Jim Skaret, Lay Pastor

For over a century, we three churches have freely offered forgiveness in the name of Christ. Come, let us once again approach God in confession, that we might once again experience God's grace together.

Prayer of Confession (unison)

Jim Skaret, Lay Pastor

Holy God, we confess that we forget our own history and the lessons of faith passed on to us by our forebearers. We forget that our arrival on this day was built on endurance through many eras of struggle. We forget the importance of your victory over sin and death, and still live as those with no hope. We forget the obstacles lain before our forebearers, the depth of their struggles, and the miracle of your intervention for their good. We forget that we are built on the good you did for them, we often fail to appreciate the good to which you have brought us. We forget their mistakes and sins, we gloss over the histories they left for us, thus failing to learn the lessons they could teach us. Forgive us for disrespecting our own pasts and your role in bringing us to this day. Through — recognition of your faithful help through all days, help us to see our own future with faith and strength (Silent, Individual, Confession.) In the beautiful name of Jesus we pray, Amen.

Assurance of Pardon

Prayer of Illumination (from the Scottish Book of Prayer)

Allen Hoberg

O GOD, from whom all holy desires, all good counsels, and all just works do proceed: Give unto thy servants that peace which the world cannot give; that both our hearts may be set to obey thy commandments. Amen

Reading of Scripture Hebrews 12:1b-3 Allen Hoberg

“Let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us,² fixing our eyes on Jesus, the pioneer and perfecter of faith. For the joy set before him he endured the cross, scorning its shame, and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.³ Consider him who endured such opposition from sinners, so that you will not grow weary and lose heart.”

Choir Anthem “Creator of the Stars of Night”
7th Century Latin Hymn, translated by J.M. Neale, Heather Sorenson soloist: Danette Pengilly

Reader: Signe Snortland
All of us have come to this day because of endurance – either our own, or that of a generation before us. Our paths have been marked by many joys and loves, by family harmony and peace through good days. But we have also encountered pain, persecution, loss and discouragement. It is faith that brought us safe thus far, faith and obedience to the call of God which gave us and our ancestors the ability to endure through dark days until the sun shone again.

Reading of Scripture*Romans 5:1-5Signe Snortland

Therefore, since we have been justified through faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ,² through whom we have gained access by faith into this grace in which we now stand. And we boast in the hope of the glory of God.³ Not only so, but we also glory in our sufferings, because we know that suffering produces perseverance;⁴ perseverance, character; and character, hope.⁵ And hope does not put us to shame, because God's love has been poured out into our hearts through the Holy Spirit, who has been given to us.

Reader:Alice Nix

And this is our assurance – that the God who kept our ancestors through famine and war, persecution and pain, trial and hard work, is still keeping us safe and strong today. God makes a good purpose out of everything, and we will never be disappointed if we place our lives in God's hands.

Benediction Scottish Blessing Prayer Suzy Pflieger, Lay Pastor

May the blessing of light be on you, light without and light within. May the blessed sunlight shine on you like a great peat fire, so that stranger and friend may come and warm himself at it. And may light shine out of the two eyes of you, like a candle set in the window of a house, bidding the wanderer come in out of the storm. And may the blessing of the rain be on you, may it beat upon your Spirit and wash it fair and clean, and leave there a shining pool where the blue of Heaven shines, and sometimes a star. And may the blessing of the earth be on you, soft under your feet as you pass along the roads, soft under you as you lie → out on it, tired at the end of day; and may it rest easy over you when, at last, you lie out under it. May it rest so lightly over you that your soul may be out from under it quickly; up and off and on its way to God. And now may the Lord bless you, and bless your kin.

*Be ye our angel unawares
If after Kirk ye bide a wee
There's some would like to speak to ye
If after Kirk ye rise and flee
We' all seem could and still to ye
The one that's in the seat with ye
Is stranger here then ye, maybe
All here have got their fears and cares
Add ye your soul unto our prayers
Be ye our angel unaware.*
