

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my support for the dealership services Fidelity Dealer Services provides. Fidelity has been extremely helpful to us with respect to sales training and F&I training. Greg Scarano has always been responsive to our needs in a timely manner.

One differentiating factor about Fidelity compared to other vendors is the fact that they can provide temporary staffing support should there be coverage issues due to vacations or separations. In addition Fidelity has also proven to be a good source of potential employees due to their extensive network of relationships

Sincerely,
