They were looking intently up into the sky as he was going, when suddenly two men dressed in white stood beside them. "Men of Galilee," they said, "why do you stand here looking into the sky? BIBLE STUDY

Bible study has ended for the current season and will resume this coming September. For further information please contact Rae Crozier.

THE OLIVET DISCLOSURE

In the Gospel of Matthew and the Gospel, Jesus spoke this discourse to his disciples privately on the Mount of Olives, opposite Herod's Temple. In the Gospel of Luke, Jesus taught over a period of time in the Temple and stayed at night on the Mount of Olives.

According to the narrative of the synoptic Gospels, an anonymous disciple remarks on the greatness of Herod's Temple. Jesus responds that not one of those stones would remain intact in the building, and the whole thing would be reduced to rubble.

The disciples asked Jesus, "When will this happen, and what will be the sign of your coming and of the end of the age?" Jesus first warns them about things that would happen:

- Some would claim to be Christ.
- There would be wars and rumors of wars.

Then Jesus identifies "the beginnings of birth pangs":

- Nations rising up against nations, and kingdoms against kingdoms.
- Earthquakes
- Famines
- Pestilence
- Fearful events

Next, he described more birth pangs which would lead to the coming Kingdom:

- False prophets
- Apostasy
- Persecution of the followers of Jesus
- The spread of Jesus' message (the gospel) around the world

Jesus then warned the disciples about the abomination of desolation, "standing where it does not belong".

In the Olivet Discourse, Jesus stated that when all these signs are seen, the coming of the Son of Man would be imminent. He went on to say, "this generation will not pass away until all these things have taken place." (Mark 13:30) †

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

The chief teachings of the Catholic church are: God's objective existence; God's interest in individual human beings, who can enter into relations with God (through prayer); the Trinity; the divinity of Jesus; the immortality of the soul of each human being, each one being accountable at death for his or her actions in life, with the award of heaven or hell; the resurrection of the dead; the historicity of the Gospels; and the divine commission of the church. In addition the Roman Catholic Church stresses that since the members, living and dead, share in each other's merits, the Virgin Mary and other saints and the dead in purgatory are never forgotten.

A LITTLE SUNDAY HUMOR!

★ The class is having a guessing game and the teacher asks, "OK, what do you call someone who keeps on talking even though nobody else is interested anymore?" Little Johnny shouts eagerly, "A teacher!" 😊

★ Need cheering up? Start a heated argument with somebody with a bad case of hiccups! 😊
