WHAT IS AN ACTIVE SHOOTER

What is an active shooter? The United States Department of Homeland Security defines the active shooter as "an individual actively engaged in killing or attempting to kill people in a confined and populated area; in most cases, active shooters use firearms(s) and there is no pattern or method to their selection of victims".

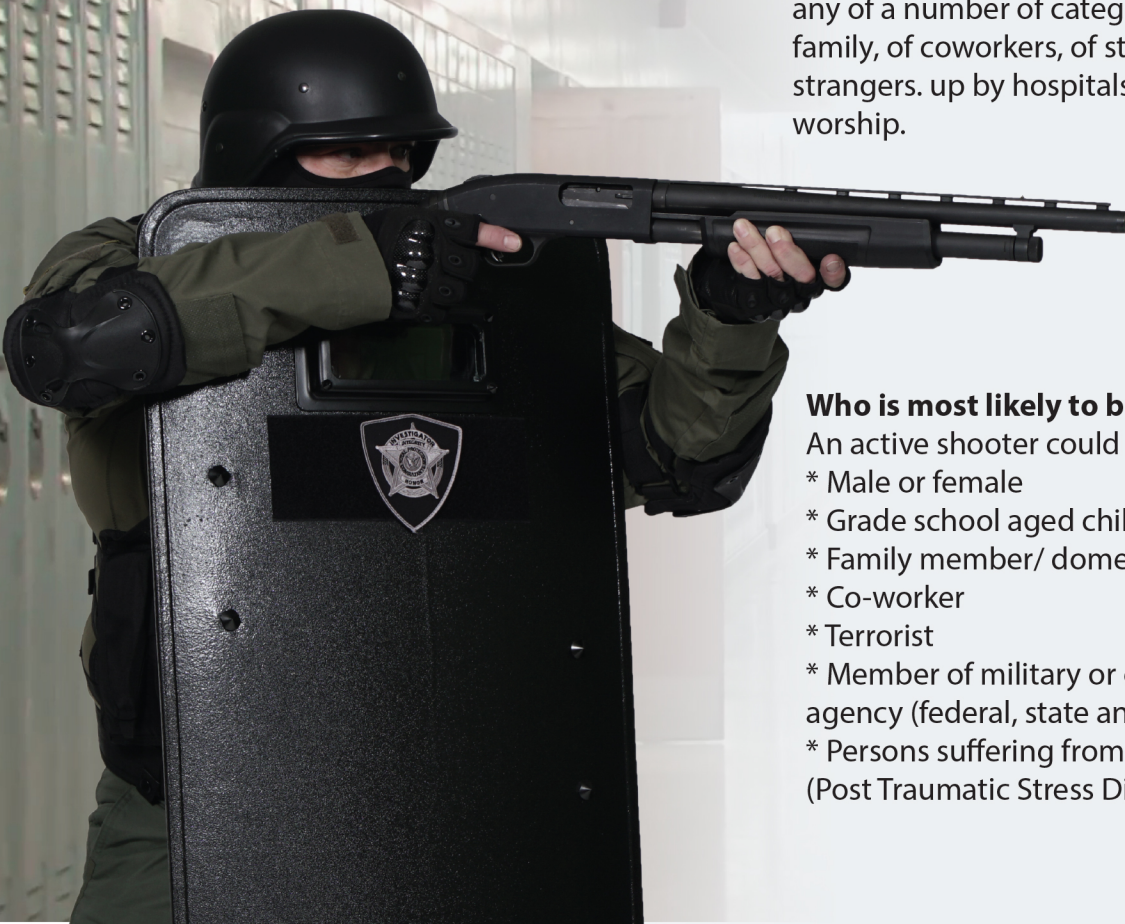

Where do shootings occur? According to the Crime Prevention Research Center, 98.4 percent of mass shootings have occurred on gun-free zones. According to a Department of Justice study of 160 active shooting incidents, 45.6% of the incidents occurred in areas of commerce. These included businesses open to pedestrian traffic. Educational environments made up for 24.4% of active and mass shootings followed up by hospitals and places of religious worship.

What is a mass shooting? A mass shooting is an incident involving multiple victims of firearms-related violence. In 2013, congress redefined mass shooting as being the murder of three or more people. Individuals who commit mass shootings may fall into any of a number of categories, including killers of family, of coworkers, of students, and of random strangers. up by hospitals and places of religious worship.
