Since there was not another councilperson on the call, there was no meeting. However, Rue Simmons gave her opinions on what was needed which was a policy to help restore equity. The saw there were five components of such:

- Cessation of racism
- Restoration
- Compensation
- Satisfaction
- Rehabilitation

She continued to say that Council would have a Juneteenth Resolution at its 6/08 meeting and mentioned an opinion piece from David Brooks on Reparations from the NYTimes (Which I had sent to her 20 minutes before).

There is a Reparations website on the City Website which lists a number of sources and also has a video of the Town Hall meeting.

There are a few community groups exploring reparations but not tightly organized.

Rainey had actually arrived about 12:20 after she had participated in the protest at St. Francis. Bit since some people had already left the meeting, Kimberly recommended that they reconvene next Friday prior to the presentation on 6/22 at Council.
