What's Included: The training fee includes a resource-packed workbook for each participant, plus one Teaching Unity Toolkit and one Multicultural Conference Planning Guide per district. The fee for Yakima also includes a light breakfast, lunch and afternoon snack. Additional meals, lodging and travel not included.

For Trainings on Location: Participants may include staff, faculty, students and community members from a single district, or from several districts combined in order to split the training fee. UnityWorks will provide promotional materials in digital form (fliers, brochures, introductory PPT) to assist with recruitment.

Planning Checklist: For trainings on location, the host organization is responsible for practical matters such as securing a venue, reserving AV equipment, and arranging for catering and clock hours if desired. An easy planning checklist will be sent with the contract so you have everything needed to organize a successful training event.

School Program: Following the training, districts are invited to join the UnityWorks School Program, which offers ongoing support to the district as the site teams implement their Diversity Action Plans. There is no additional cost. For more information: UnityWorks School Program.
