Vet Tech FT, PT, Weekends

Busy 2-doctor AAHA accredited, feline friendly small animal practice is looking for a licensed veterinary technician or experienced veterinary assistant who loves what they do and who enjoys working on a team whose goal is to provide topnotch, compassionate care. Duties include anesthesia induction and monitoring, dental prophylaxis and radiology, whole body radiology, cytology, obtaining lab samples, performing lab tests, hospital admissions and client communication. We have a full in house lab, digital whole body and dental radiology, ultrasound, therapy laser and the best surgical monitors. We are located in a resort community in the beautiful northeast Georgia mountains near lakes and hiking. Continuing education is supported, encouraged and included in the benefits package. Other benefits include paid time off, paid holidays, an IRA option and payment of professional dues. If you love your career and would like an awesome place to work contact us!

Preferably graduated from an accredited Veterinary Technician Program

Licensure preferred, but we will accept applications from candidates with excellent experience that are not licensed
