Landmark Regulatory Reform Package - 34 Proposed & Final Rules

ATF's 34-Rule Reform Package Is a Start, Not a Finish Line for Gun Owners

Ammoland Inc. Posted on April 30, 2026,

Acting Attorney General Todd Blanche invited AmmoLand News to witness the signing of the most comprehensive Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) rules package in the agency's history.

The rules were substantial. They included eliminating the need to mark National Firearms Act (NFA) items when built from an existing receiver. Another change allows Gun Control Act (GCA) firearms to be shipped directly to a buyer's door from a federal firearms licensee (FFL) in the same state. Many companies, such as Palmetto State Armory (PSA), have a network of FFLs in each state to ship suppressors to purchasers' doors. It wouldn't be a heavy lift to use those same FFLs for GCA firearms.

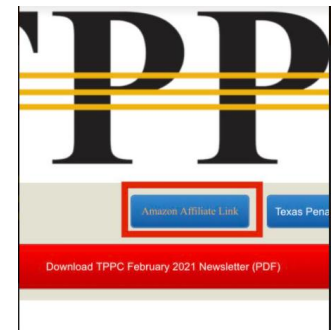

Court cases around the country have been paused for months, awaiting a new rule. Many believed it would be unveiled yesterday. That did not happen. Earlier this month, Justice Department lawyers stated that the ATF would not change the frames-and-receiver rule. They quickly backpedaled, then told opposition lawyers that the rule is still under review and that a new rule would be forthcoming.

The ATF's proposed changes show a willingness to work with the firearms community and industry, a major shift from the past.

NRA Armed Citizen March 2, 2026

On Feb. 21, a man with a knife allegedly threatened a couple outside an apartment complex in Clearwater, Fla. Fearing for their lives, the male victim shot and injured the suspect.

Once released from the hospital, the 37-year-old suspect was arrested on charges of aggravated assault. He was also charged with battery on a person 65 or older for a separate incident the day prior, in which he had allegedly thrown a water bottle at a 70-year-old woman, striking her in the face. DOI Sues Denver Over Unconstitutional "Assault Weapons" Ban
Ammoland Inc. Posted on May 5, 2026, by Dave Workman

The U.S. Department of Justice has sued Denver, Colorado, over the city's 37-year ban on so-called "assault weapons," arguing the ordinance violates the Second Amendment by criminalizing commonly owned AR-15-style rifles.

Only one day after Denver, Colorado, Mayor Mike Johnston cavalierly told reporters his answer to a Justice Department vow to bring legal action over the city's long-standing ban on so-called "assault weapons" was "Hell, no," the DOJ hit the Mile High City with a federal lawsuit.

Assistant Attorney General stated, "I have directed the Civil Rights Division, through our new Second Amendment Section, to defend law-abiding Americans from restrictions such as those we are challenging in these cases. Law-abiding Americans, regardless of what city or state they reside in, should not have to live under threat of criminal sanction just for exercising their Second Amendment right to possess arms, which are owned by tens of millions of their fellow citizens."

Best Concealed Carry Handguns 2026

(Click the link above to read the full article)

Choosing a handgun for concealed carry is personal. From the frame size to the action, the platform you pick should be one you can shoot confidently and comfortably – and train with consistently. Some people prefer a pocket-sized mouse gun, while others shoot better with and have no problem concealing a full-sized 1911. With practice and an appropriate holster, just about any handgun can be your EDC.

That said, the choices can be overwhelming, so we asked our editorial staff to help. Our writers have reviewed and range-tested each of these firearms, and there should be something for everyone on this list of our favorite concealed carry handguns. We hope it makes shopping a little easier for you.
