

THREE DAILY QUESTIONS

One of the most practical ways to hear God speak to you; is to ask God a question and listen for the answer. Now, when I say listen, I don't necessarily mean you will hear God speak audibly. In God's great magnitude, God can meet us where we are. What I mean by that is, if you are an auditory learner you indeed might hear a voice within you. Yet, if you are a visual learner you might see an image in your mind's eye, or if you are a kinesthetic learner you might know God is speaking to you by the strong feelings, urgings and emotions that come over you. No matter how you learn, God will "speak" to you, for that is a promise God gives to all of us. All we need to do is ask, listen, and wait.

The following are three questions you may want to ask God periodically or maybe even daily, and then listen to God's response to your question.

- 1. What would You have me do today?
- 2. Where would You have me go?
- 3. What would you have me say to whom?
