The Golf Courses:

Las Vegas Paiute Golf Resort

In the undisturbed beauty of the Southern Nevada desert and conveniently located 20 minutes northwest of the JW Marriott Las Vegas the Las Vegas Paiute Golf Resort is an International Golf Destination with three of the Top Championship Golf Courses in Nevada. They also have a massive 50,000 square foot clubhouse that offers a full restaurant and bar, the largest golf shop in the state, a 5,000 square foot event facility, and floor-to-ceiling windows that bring the outdoors “in” with panoramic views of the property infused with the natural surroundings and mountain backdrop. The three courses – all conceived and designed by world-renowned architect Pete Dye courses – transcend you to a different world of serenity. Snow Mountain (the original), Sun Mountain (the natural) and WOLF (the signature and reigning longest course in Nevada) depicts Dye's signature levels of difficulty while commanding a huge degree of enjoyment from golfers of all skill levels. With 54 championship holes and 360-degree views, guests can play all day and never have the same hole twice. At 3,000 feet above stress level, the award-winning Las Vegas Paiute Golf Resort is a worthy host club for our SFGA Las Vegas Golf Adventure!

Paiute's Sun Mountain Golf Course

A layout our members will enjoy with its rolling terrain and native desert landscaping but without the usual Pete Dye severity. Pete Dye's use of railroad ties in golf course design is legendary. On the Sun Mountain course, sloping faces of bunkers embed the railroad ties. Bentgrass greens are large, undulating and firm. The first cut of rough is harmless. But the second cut is the sandy and scruffy desert where big scores can start. Fortunately, there is plenty of area around the greens for pitch shots helping to make this course friendly to the high handicapper.

Paiute's Wolf Golf Course

The longest course in Nevada at 7,604 total yards. But don't worry, they offer five sets and tees and our participants don't have to play it at 7,604 yards unless you want to. The course has been touted as the one of the best in Nevada since it opened in 2001. Annika Sorenstam and Karrie Webb officially opened the course by competing in a Shells

Wonderful World of Golf with Annika shooting a 64 and edging out Karrie Webb by just one shot! The Wolf features severe undulations, alternate landing areas, and a stunning 15th hole island green. Come find out why they say "The Wolf Howls"!

Paiute's Snow Mountain Golf Course

The first of the three courses designed by Pete Dye opening in 1994. As one of Dye's trademarks, the course is littered with railroad ties around many of the bunkers. Snow Mountain has generously wide fairways and it's a good thing as it gives you a fair chance of staying out of the pot bunkers and lakes that seem to be placed right where your shot may want to go. Along with the Bentgrass greens, Las Vegas Paiute Snow Mountain has seven holes with water, the traditional Dye railroad-tie bunkers, dogleg finishing holes, and a progressive layout. It's also rated as the number one course in Nevada voted by the annual Golfers' Choice lists generated by Golf Pass.

TPC Las Vegas Golf Course

Previously known as TPC at The Canyons and it has some of the richest PGA TOUR history in all of Las Vegas. From 1996-2006, the TPC Las Vegas hosted the Shriner's Hospitals for Children Open, the Bard Capital Challenge and the Las Vegas Senior Classic. During that time, some of the world's best golfers and major title winners — Phil Mickelson, John Daly, Hale Irwin and Jim Furyk — have graced the fairways of the TPC Las Vegas. The TPC Las Vegas golf course offers an incomparable level of play and challenge for every skill set. The club's par-71, 7,104-yard championship golf course designed by acclaimed architect Bobby Weed and World Golf Hall of Famer Raymond Floyd, is commonly referred to as "desert elegance." The JW Marriott also offers shuttle service to/from the club.
