

Nothing Left To Do But Smile, Smile, Smile!

Parents,

Thank you for choosing us to provide quality, comprehensive dental care for your child. Developing a comfort with dentistry is something that will serve your child well throughout life. It is our goal to provide your child with an enjoyable, interactive, and educational dental experience. The trust and rapport necessary for this to occur develop most naturally through one-on-one interaction between child and clinician. While parents are welcome to take part in preventive appointments, it is not necessarily encouraged.

At the completion of your child's preventive appointment, Dr. Taylor will discuss with you his clinical findings and answer any questions you or your child may have. Should your child require treatment beyond routine preventive care, Dr. Taylor will explain the procedures and treatment options. No treatment will be rendered without your full understanding and consent.

It is our policy that parents may not accompany children into treatment rooms. Successful dental treatment depends on your child's full cooperation. A parent being present in the treatment room not only inflates a child's sense of fear and distrust, it creates unnecessary distractions for both the child and the doctor.

We understand that this is difficult for some parents, but please trust that our number one priority is care and compassion for your child.

Thank you,

Dr. Taylor and Staff
