REFLECTIONS ON OUR OCTOBER 18-25TH VISIT TO THE SEMJASE-SILVER-STAR-CENTER

by Catherine Mossman / Tiny, ON / November 21, 2024

Well, this was a bit of a big event for us reluctant travellers. Michael and I had not been to the SSSC since BC (before Covid) in 2018. It is also the first time we've gone in the fall, as usually we'd go for the annual passive member's meeting which is held in late May.

We stayed at the Gasthaus zum Freihof, aka, the Freihof, which has been the go-to place if one wanted to stay within walking distance of the SSSC. There is no other place around there that is within walking distance, unfortunately. It's also been great because one can get to the Freihof by public train and bus, straight from the airport in about an hour, thus no need to rent a car.

FLCA PUBLISHING UPDATE ON GENESIS

by Micheal Uyttebroek / Tiny, ON / November 2024

Regarding the availability of Genesis, it will take longer than anticipated for a number of reasons:

All of the Geist terms in the German will be revised to the Schöpfungsenergie terms and all of their variants. In addition, the same goes with the English term spirit and all of its variations.

The second reason is that FLCA will then have the book looked over by Vibka and Vivienne from FLAU to ensure the best possible translation is done. Ultimately the goal is the best possible translation and not the speed at which it is released.

MEIN GEIST, DER DU BIST IN ALLMACHT

by Michael Uyttebroek / Tiny, ON / November 22, 2024

The Creation-life-energy contained within me, you have all of the stored wisdom and essence of knowledge in you from all previous lives. 'You' is actually energy and is intimately connected to this current personality via striving impulses. Also life would not be possible, so therefore you are the animating factor for the existence of this current personality, an enlivening factor which makes it possible for this personality to think, feel, learn and grow as a human being. However, I am not a passive participant to whom all of this is done to. No, it requires that I think about what makes sense, what is logical, what does the law of cause and effect actually mean, and how does my thinking, feeling and actions affect my self and the environment. Impulses are released, as required, so that there is new material to process, to think about and to apply in the unfolding of the evolution. Indeed evolution is required, but only comes forth through effort, through the application of the natural laws of the Creation. Harmony and peace and many other equalised states of being can only arise when there is an acquiescing to the truth and reality which is not bound by belief, nor can it ever be, because freedom, truth, and actuality is like pure clean water that is uncontaminated by the murkiness of belief.

The third reason is that other FLCA members will then format the book in Scribus to prepare it for publishing. That will be a learning curve. In the past it was Jimmy who prepared the FLCA books for the printer. Formatting really can't start until the final document is completed. Hopefully this entire process will all be completed next year but the time line is at this point undetermined due to all of the variable factors. In addition, we also have to reformat Symbols of the Creation-energy Teaching for a new edition. (Note: All FLCA publishing files were lost for this book and several others due to the sudden death of Jimmy Chen).

In each life we have problems which we learn to master and therefore free ourselves from them.

Each human being's life with its accompanying personality comes into being and then passes away, just like everything material, however the Creation-energy within us exists through life and death and continues to evolve.

Here are several pics...

In the past one would often see Billy sitting there at the table Michael is at, having a 'Kaffeepause' with various KG49 members.

Also in the early days, Michael remembers attending the annual passive member meetings in the upstairs dining hall of the Freihof. Below are a couple of snaps of that dining hall now...

REFLECTIONS ON...continues

...and a couple of pics of photos that Michael had in his photo album back from a 1992 passive member's meeting there. Sorry for the poor resolution [note: pre-digital photography]. The fellow at the podium, in the red sweater is Guido Moosbrugger.

As it turns out, we were the second to last guests to stay there as the family that has run the Freihof for decades is now retiring and rented it out to a young couple as of November 1st. Our hosts informed us that their new tenants are not going to be running it as a guest house any longer, however, hope springs eternal and perhaps they'll change their minds.

REFLECTIONS ON...continues

Apparently, this past summer in Switzerland had been one of the wettest on record for a very long time. The gardens were sopping and didn't do so well. Nor did the road that runs from the Freihof down to the Centre. A big washout now prevents any car traffic from getting to the SSSC from that direction. Fortunately, there is another road in, which is a few kilometres around the hills that approaches from the opposite side; a bit of an inconvenience. Who knows when the Canton will get around to fixing it; it has been like that for some time.

We timed our trip so we'd be able to partake in the Peace Meditation with the core group. We flew on Friday and arrived Saturday morning of the PM...we were pretty exhausted, napped for a while, went for dinner at the Centre, where we could eat in the little visitors room that is just off of the kitchen, where people come to buy books and meet with Core Group members. The new security rules no longer allow non-Core group members to enter into the kitchen area.

Pius Keller sat with us for a while, then Mark Leaver, the CG member from the US, joined us in the visitors room and caught us up on some of the tasks he's volunteered himself for... one of which is organising all the books and booklets of various kinds, and making alphabetical lists, etc. A big job! But it does make it easier for the purchasing transactions for the buyers and the members who go collect these orders.

REFLECTIONS ON...continues

Here's Mark in that room, showing us some stuff. This room has a big desk with a Plexiglass divider in the middle where members can meet with visitors a little more safely, health wise.

Then we attended the two Saturday peace meditations at 7:30 and 9:00pm.

At the end of one of them Christian snapped this picture of us beside KG49 member Kunio Uchida in the meeting room, that is located upstairs in the building beside the main house.

In between meditations we sat in the outdoor covered eating area and chatted with some fellow passive members from neighbouring areas/ countries, etc., who'd come to do some volunteering and to attend the Peace Meditations.

Here is our Belgian friend, Eddy Erna.

While sitting there we saw Billy for the first time as he walked by at a fast clip, to join the group at their meeting. At first glance, he'd lost weight since we'd last seen him six years ago. Then later while we assembled at the door to the hall for the 2nd meditation Billy came out the door and made quick eye contact with us and continued on his way back to the house.

That first evening we also caught this nice sunset...the clouds in the distance look like an ocean beyond the trees.

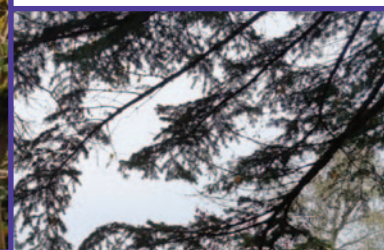

The next morning, Sunday, was a foggy one, here's the view out our window.

REFLECTIONS ON...continues

Also, that morning, a Dutch friend of ours, who's a new Core group trial member who'd been there for the Saturday meeting and Peace Meditations, joined us for breakfast before he headed back to his home in Germany. Nice to do some catching up in person.

Then we had another Peace Meditation to look forward to in the evening and had the balance of the day to continue the jet lag recovery and did a bit of a walk about. Some things that stood out as being different this time, were the new security gates positioned in many places where previously one could walk freely....now one would need a key to get through. Additionally, the security cameras, estimated to be about 27 of them, and motion activated lights, were new. The lights really light up the place at night, and that takes away from the quiet-viewing of the skies should one wish to. Though 'quiet' is a bit of a misnomer given the non-stop flight traffic, in and out of Zurich, overhead. Here are some snaps from the walk around:

REFLECTIONS ON...continues

As well, given that Sunday is their 'visitors day' it's also the day we could make our book purchases. Madeleine Brügger and Kristina Gollman helped us with that...continues with the link below.

CONSCIOUSNESS AS AN IMPULSE-HUB

by Michael Uyttebroek / Tiny, ON / September 2024

The consciousness can be compared to the grand central station where all of the connecting trains come in or an airport where all of the connecting flights are made. Our consciousness receives impulses not only from the outside through our sensory organs but also internally from fine energy impulses.

We take in information through what we see, hear, smell and taste but also what we feel/sense from other people. If we are attentive we can feel a sympathy or antipathy towards another. This has to do with the thinking radiations which emanate out from the person/s, whether or not there is a compatibility or not. One can also feel if there is someone looking at them or not, as a kind of sensitivity to the moment. Also, the colours and the sound of nature can have a relaxing and neutralising effect on ones thinking and feeling whereas a traffic jam, frantic car horns or the cacophony of an amusement park can be quite unsettling and can elevate the stress and adrenaline. Tensions due to the noise and pollution, compounded by the anxiety and the stress of others just adds to the bombardment or assault on ones own well being and balance. The interaction of the sheer volume and intensity of thoughts adds to the challenge of maintaining a neutral, balanced and open view. This is heightened much further if one is living in a war-torn zone where the sound of gun shots or explosions echo in the air or if one is bombarded with the constant noise in an extremely densely populated city, where the hustle and bustle of everyday life accentuates the struggle to survive. Basically there are sensory assaults which can have physical implications for one's health both mental and physical. That is a good reason to surround oneself in a healthy environment, around nature, trees, flowers, clean air, the sound of birds, an oxygen rich and peaceful forest 'bathing', etc., all of which contributes to a calming effect on one's thoughts and feelings. Listening to certain music likewise can have a balancing effect or can cause stress depending on the qualitative content of the music. In other words, music that is disruptive, disharmonious will convey those feelings to the listener whereas music that is melodic and peaceful will have a relaxing effect. This sounds simple and it is, because clear harmonious thoughts evoke clear harmonious music whereas the opposite is true.

In CR 770 Bermunda explains:

23. Music and song of a harmonious manner mobilise the consciousness of the human being as well as the instinctual consciousness of mammals, animals and all living beings in general, which unfortunately is not known to the majority of Earth-humans.

24. Music and song of a harmonious manner – as you know, since you have been instructed in this respect – produce in the human being beneficial hormones which have an effect on a half-way good or effectively good as well as on the best developed character traits of the human being.

25. In a certain larger mass of Earth-humans, these character traits are usually to be measured with a half-way value, which means that these human beings are capable of and accessible to a thought-feeling-psyche mood of peace, harmony, joy and love, consequently they lead their thoughts, feelings and psyche in a certain balance.

26. This is because the consciousness of these human beings processes the harmonious sounds of music and song in a predominantly, well-structured and equally calming way, as it also does unconsciously with the noises, sounds and all the voices of nature.

27. However, if something disruptive breaks into this mood, it very quickly dissolves and allows the only half-acquired good character traits to bubble up and break through everything negative.

23. Musik und Gesang harmonischer Art und Weise mobilisieren das Bewusstsein des Menschen wie auch das Instinkt-bewusstsein der Säugetiere, des Getiers und aller Lebewesen allgemein, was leider dem Gros der Erdenmenschen nicht bekannt ist.

24. Musik und Gesang harmonischer Art und Weise – wie du ja weisst, da du diesbezüglich belehrt bist – produzieren beim Menschen Wohlhormone, die sich auf einen Halbwegwert gute oder effektiv gute sowie auf beste entwickelte Charaktereigenschaften des Menschen auswirken

25. Bei einer gewissen grösseren Masse der Erdenmenschen sind diese Charaktereigenschaften in der Regel mit einem Halbwegwert zu bemessen, was bedeutet, dass diese Menschen charaktereigenschaftlich halbwegwertig einer Gedanken-Gefühls-Psyche-Stimmung von Frieden, Harmonie, Freude und Liebe fähig und zugänglich sind, folglich sie also ihre Gedanken, Gefühle und Psyche in einer gewissen Ausgeglichenheit führen.

26. Dies darum, weil das Bewusstsein dieser Menschen die harmonischen Klänge von Musik und Gesang auswiegend, wohlgliedernd und ebenso beruhigend verarbeitet, wie es dies unbewusst auch mit den Geräuschen, Klängen und allen Stimmen der Natur macht.

27. Wenn jedoch etwas Störendes in diese Stimmung einbricht, dann löst sich diese sehr schnell und lässt die nur halbwegs erarbeiteten guten Charaktereigenschaften aufwallen und alles Negative durchbrechen.

In any case the physical input of our surroundings has a definite positive or negative effect on our well being. Yet another factor to consider is not only the mental pollution of too many people living too closely to one another, but also the factor of EM pollution which also has an effect on our thinking and feeling. For example in contact report 386 Ptaah states the following:

CONSCIOUSNESS AS...continues

13. Strong electromagnetic fields from electronic devices, and so forth, as well as from the Earth's magnetism, therefore, also have effects in such a wise that the thoughts and emotions and the state of the psyche of the human beings become impaired.

14. Especially strong Earth-electromagnetic swinging waves can very strongly influence the body, the psyche and the consciousness of the human being, whereby his/her impulses, in regard to thoughts and feelings, shift into uncontrolled courses and can ausarten* into exaggerated and uncontrolled actions.

15. If such strong swinging waves arise, then that can lead to unpleasantly aggressive or depressive excesses with regard to uncontrolled behaviour of the human being, which is why he/she then must, in every regard, greatly increase the degree of control he/she maintains upon himself/herself.

13. Starke elektromagnetische Felder von Elektrogeräten usw. sowie vom Erdmagnetismus haben also auch Auswirkungen in der Weise, dass die Gedanken und Gefühle und der Psychezustand des Menschen beeinträchtigt werden.

14. Besonders starke erdelektromagnetische Schwingungen können den Körper, die Psyche und das Bewusstsein der Menschen sehr stark beeinflussen, wodurch sich die gedanklich-gefühlsmässigen Regungen in unkontrollierten Bahnen bewegen und in übersteigerten und unkontrollierten Handlungen ausarten können.

15. Treten solche starke Schwingungen in Erscheinung, dann kann das zu unerfreulich-aggressiven oder depressiven Auswüchsen in bezug auf ein unkontrolliertes Verhalten der Menschen führen, weshalb sie dann stark vermehrt sich in jeder Beziehung unter Kontrolle halten müssen.

In Contact 252, Billy further explains:

Billy: For certain animal species, however, in addition to noise pollution, radio waves are also harmful or even fatal, just as radio waves are also harmful for humans, as are strong electromagnetic waves emanating from high-voltage power lines and transformer stations, etc. However, the so-called normal electro smog should also be mentioned in this context.

Für gewisse Tierarten sind aber nebst der Lärmverschmutzung auch Funkwellen schädlich oder gar tödlich, wie Funkwellen ja auch für den Menschen schädlich sind, wie auch starke elektromagnetische Wellen, die von Hochspannungsleitungen und Trafostationen usw. ausgehen. Jedoch ist diesbezüglich auch der sogenannte normale Elektrosmog zu nennen.

Here is a yet another contact describing the effects of electro smog on the consciousness from Contact Report 330:

15. Electro smog can in no wise be associated with 'cosmic-electromagnetic energy' or with 'cosmic-electromagnetic life energy', because in contrast to this, electro smog is not invigorating for all life-forms, but is very harmful, whereby the human being in particular is very susceptible to it, along with pets, wild animals and plants.

16. Electro smog fields occur everywhere where electric lines run or where electric apparatuses, plants, generators or transformer stations, etc. are located.

17. Also radio, television and mobile phone transmitters as well as similar receivers, i.e. radio telephones, radio equipment and mobile phones or the so-called 'Handys' [German term for mobile phone] emit strong emissions of electro smog, which is nothing else than 'low-energy electromagnetic fields' or 'low-energy electromagnetic swinging waves'.

18. Effects of electro smog on humans can be e.g. dizziness, consciousness disorders, headaches, brain warming, concentration disorders, allergies, blood diseases, rheumatism, nervous diseases, psychological damage, eating disorders as well as aggression, sleep disorders, forgetfulness, personality changes, depression, visual disorders, even cancer, etc. as the facts show, but this is usually as vehemently disputed elsewhere by the earthly 'experts' and 'scientists' as by the manufacturers of the products emitting electro smog.

15. Elektrosmog kann in keiner Weise mit der 'kosmisch-elektromagnetischen Energie' resp. mit der 'kosmisch-elektromagnetischen Lebensenergie' in Zusammenhang gebracht werden, denn im Gegensatz zu dieser ist Elektrosmog für alle Lebensformen nicht belebend, sondern sehr schädlich, wobei insbesondere der Mensch dafür sehr anfällig ist, nebst Haustieren und Wildtieren sowie Pflanzen.

16. Elektrosmog-Felder treten überall dort auf, wo elektrische Leitungen verlaufen oder wo sich elektrische Apparaturen, Anlagen, Generatoren oder Transformator-Stationen usw. befinden.

17. Auch Radio-, Fernseh- und Mobiltelefon-Sendeanlagen sowie gleichartige Empfänger, also Funktelefone, Funkanlagen und Mobiltelefone resp. die sogenannten 'Handys' sondern starke Emissionen von Elektrosmog ab, der nichts anderes darstellt als 'niederenergetische elektromagnetische Felder' resp. 'nieder-energetische elektromagnetische Schwingungen'.

18. Auswirkungen des Elektrosmog auf den Menschen können z.B. Schwindel, Bewusstseinsstörungen, Kopfschmerzen, Gehirnerwärmung, Konzentrationsstörungen, Allergien, Blutkrankheiten, Rheuma, Nervenkrankheiten, Psyche-Schäden, Essstörungen sowie Aggressionen, Schlafstörungen, Vergesslichkeit, Persönlichkeitsveränderungen, Depressionen, Sehstörungen ja sogar Krebs usw. sein, wie die Tatsachen ergeben, was jedoch anderweitig von den irdischen 'Fachleuten' und 'Wissenschaftlern' in der Regel ebenso vehement bestritten wird wie auch von den Herstellern der Elektrosmog aussendenden Produkte.

In any case it is clear that where we chose to live can have a direct impact on our health, both physically and psychically (how we think and feel).

CONSCIOUSNESS AS...continues

Coarse frequencies or swinging waves have a definite influence on all of us either in a negative or positive direction. Hence the importance of maintaining an attentive control over our thoughts and feelings and environment.

Psychical pollution originating from our surroundings such as commercial advertisements, false news narratives, movie propaganda, online disrespectful comments and an intolerance of others that have different perspectives from our own lead the pack. The spoken or unspoken unvalues lay out their treacherous traps. Events such as road rage, bullying, and other forms of violent behaviour coupled with a cut throat desire to succeed and gain as much power and wealth, at any cost, also come to mind. Altogether these various thought forms flourish around the world and also wreak havoc on those who are susceptible. Those that simply accept beliefs and do not think for themselves have great difficulty uncoupling from the 'norm' which in actuality is against all creational laws and recommendations that effectively promote peaceful coexistence, not only with our fellow human beings, but with all of nature, in mutual respect.

It's the 'us against them' mentality, be it with sports teams or religious or cultural/racial differences that lead to wars, riots, hooliganism, revenge, hatred and other ausartungen*

The lack of ability or interest to think logically for oneself and make an effort to assess reality clearly only leads to further confusion. The identification with outside forces becomes an extension of who one is. Belief is assessed as truth.

Navigating through it all can be quite the challenge, but fortunately there are positive influences which can shed light into a wide array of distractions, temptations and misunderstandings. This has to do with the unstoppable momentum to strive for that which is more than simply the day-to-day turmoil, the incessant need for the evolution of the consciousness to that which is in fulfilment of one's true purpose in life, to be a real human being in fulfilment of the creational natural laws and recommendations. In order for this to move in the right direction we have guidance, that of our conscience, the voice of our real inner self which is in concordance with our innermost self. This leads us to the next spectrum of influences on our consciousness, the more subtle swinging waves of our Creation-energy part-piece and the neutral-balanced impulses which make their way via the material subconsciousness through to the psyche and the conscious of itself material consciousness. This may seem somewhat abstract, however if we examine this process carefully, we can see that it makes perfect sense. If we consider that there is order to life and death, that there is an evolutionary process not just for the human being in their current life, but for the entirety of ALL in every imaginable and unimaginable sense, that this evolutionary process is valid from the smallest to the largest in all possible dimensions, universes, Creations, that there is a becoming and passing but also a constant change to a higher and more refined form of energy, and this for all eternity.

There are various sources of fine energy packets of information that originate externally as well as internally. For example, externally, one can be uplifted by inspiring music and fine art. One can also receive a 'feeling' from another person, creature or thing. It can be a friendly feeling or that of antipathy. This is an internal feeling and at the same time, originating from an external source. It can also be that our unconscious 'radar' can pick up information from our surroundings that our conscious of itself consciousness is not able to perceive. This explains that our intuition functions via the unconsciousness at a much faster speed than the consciousness is able to process, and then relays information instantly without the consciousness having to take the time to think about a situation.

The point of this is that impulses can be picked up from the outside, via the unconscious and then transmitted to consciousness at lightning-fast speed. According to Billy, this can occur in conjunction with the subconsciousness.

Other sources of impulses can be originating from the fluidal energies embedded in the skeletons of previous personalities of the same Creation-energy part-piece lineage. These energies have an evolutionary aiding factor of transmitting unworked out problems from earlier incarnations that are stored in the bones, provided that they are still existing, and transmitting these impulses to the current incarnation with the same Creation-energy part-piece, via the subconsciousness as new working material to further elaborate upon and resolve. Once a problem has been resolved the connection is no longer required.

These impulses from previous incarnations can range back several hundred years or longer depending on the soil conditions that the skeleton is buried in. Therefore these fluidal energies act as an assist to the evolution, hence it is important not to get cremated, as burning the body destroys these energies.

There are also impulses that originate from the storage banks that occur for the most part, on an unconscious/subconscious level because we are not at the level of consciousness evolution to be able to utilise this information consciously for our further development.

In "Things worth knowing from the English FIGU-forum (Part 2)", during a discussion with Billy he explains the following to Christian Frehner:

BEAM: "The negative and the positive are on the other hand stored in the storage-banks. And by these the next personality can be struck again, thus by these impulses, in the negative case as in the positive, when the human being reaches the corresponding frequency through his/her consciousness, through his/her thoughts and feelings, through which he/she can retrieve (re-call) his/her impulses from the storage area, although as a rule this happens unconsciously, thus subconsciousness-based.

Ausartung noun - (pl. Ausartungen) = A very bad getting-out-of-the control of the good human nature. On 27th of August 2010, Billy informed that the linguists of the Plejaren had given him, via Ptaah, the following explanation for Ausartung in the English language: Ausartung = very bad get out of the control of the good human nature. Ausartung is: a bad Ausgehen [getting out], respectively, Ausfallen [falling away] from the control of the correct being human in the real and true sense.]

CONSCIOUSNESS AS...continues

BEAM: The more the human being evolves and drives his/her swinging waves correspondingly higher, all the more he/she comes in contact with the positive that is stored, whereby he/she creates the corresponding frequencies and can therefore retrieve from the storage banks, that which is positive, good, progressive and evolutive for him/her."

Another form of influence on the consciousness are those neutral-positive impulses that actually stem from the Creation-energy part-piece consciousness. But in order for these impulses to reach into the material consciousness these have to pass through the material subconsciousness and the material central consciousness which acts as a relay between the material and the Creation-energetical. Other impulses can originate via the Gemüt of the Creation-energy part-piece which then connects along the same pathway through to the psyche, which is the thinking-feeling 'state' of the human being. The important thing to consider is that there is a constant connection via the subconsciousness to the Creation-energy part-piece and this connection manifests itself via the innermost self through subtle evolutive impulses. If one is open to listen to these impulses then one can create their own inner nature which is in concordance with the creational-natural principles and this real inner nature addresses the material consciousness in the form of a conscience. This occurs because one listens to the guiding impulses from the innermost and forms the inner nature accordingly.

According to Billy, we are also connected via the collective-consciousness of humanity. We are also connected via smaller collectives, for example, those that listen to a certain type of music, live in a particular area, have an interest in certain subjects, etc. etc. Therefore it is possible that one person is making a specific discovery at the same time that another person, yet they do not know each other and live far away in another country or much further beyond. This is because they are subconsciously connected to one another and are making similar thought connections. In FIGU Bulletin 43 Billy writes the following:

To begin with, I want to point to the book, "Existing Life in the Universe", and indeed from page 189, "All life knows about the life of its neighbor."

In this account the actual connections are described which exist among all forms of life in regard to the knowledge of the existence of all forms of life.

In this form, connections also exist among life-forms in relation to memory-connections as well as consciousness-connections and subconsciousness-connections, and thereby, therefore to so-called morphogenetic fields [a.k.a. morphic fields] which enable communication in a form of memory-connection which is not specifically aligned with an exchange of the substance of memory between two particular forms of life of the same type, rather collectively with the respective population of the form of life concerned.

Although I do not know this theory of Rupert Sheldrake's, it is true that forms of life can, in a subconscious way, recall, through the so-called collective memory, the experiences of others of their kind and they actually also do that, for which reason, for example, at precisely the same time at several locations on the Earth - or in the vastness of the universe - the exact same words can be spoken, the exact same lines can be written or the exact same inventions can be made.

Als erstes möchte ich auf das Buch "Existentes Leben im Universum" hinweisen, und zwar auf Seite 189 ff.: "Jedes Leben weiss um das Leben des Nächsten."

In dieser Beschreibung sind die eigentlichen Zusammenhänge beschrieben, die in bezug des Wissens der Existenz aller Lebensformen untereinander bestehen.

In dieser Form bestehen auch Verbindungen der Lebensformen untereinander in bezug von Gedächtnisverbindungen sowie Bewusstseinsverbindungen und Unterbewusstseinsverbindungen und damit also sogenannte morphogenetische Felder, die in gedächtnisverbindender Form eine Kommunikation ermöglichen, die jedoch nicht spezifisch auf einen Gedächtnisstoff-Wechsel zwischen zwei speziellen Lebensformen gleicher Art ausgerichtet ist, sondern gesamt-haft auf die jeweilige Population der betreffenden Lebensform. Zwar kenne ich die Thesen von Rupert Sheldrake nicht, doch trifft es zu, dass Lebensformen durch das sogenannte Kollektiv-Gedächtnis in unterbewusster Form auf die Erfahrungen ihrer Artgenossen zurückgreifen können und das tatsächlich auch tun, weshalb z.B. zur genau gleichen Zeit an mehreren Orten auf der Erde - oder in den Weiten des Universums - die exakt gleichen Worte gesprochen, die exakt gleichen Zeilen geschrieben oder die exakt gleichen Erfindungen gemacht werden können.

In FIGU Bulletin No. 7 Billy also further explains how some people are more susceptible to influences of various collective subconsciousness forms :

"As a rule, individuals with such conscious or unconscious phobias are not obtuse, unintelligent or consciousness-impaired. Indeed, they tend to be completely normal people with a lucid consciousness. They do lack, however, certain psychic strengths and mental powers, and for this reason, they are easily influenced in these matters by subconscious vibrations from their fellow human beings. Through the collective subconsciousness, they absorb pseudo-experiences, thoughts, feelings, images, and similar vibrational emissions from other people, and assimilate them into their own subconsciousness. ... Additionally, this phenomenon holds true when the event occurs in conjunction with the collective sub-consciousness, where the number of people can range from dozens to hundreds, thousands, hundreds of thousands, and even millions of people. The larger the number of people included in this collective subconsciousness block, the more powerful it becomes and the faster it spreads at lightning speed throughout the world, to touch the subconscious level of every individual. Normally, a strong subconsciousness level in a person will assimilate and then immediately curtail these vibrational impulses. This fails to occur when an individual is controlled by some degree of lability, however, in which case the impulses do indeed reach the psyche and all mental realms without prior assimilation or screening.”

Yet another form of consciousness influence is that of the Age of Aquarius. This has to do with cosmic radiations that have a planetary influence on us all. It is explained that due to the constantly shifting celestial bodies, more and more of these cosmic swinging waves are able to affect the Earth. According to Billy we are in the final years of the transitioning period from the age of Pisces, which is predominately marked with beliefs of every type, into the age of Aquarius. Characteristics of this age are described in Billy's book The Decalogue Dodecalogue:

Aquarian Age: The new time, the golden age. The position of the Earth, resp., the SOL-System in the direct realm of this cosmic constellation in the orbit around the galactic central sun*. Aquarian Age or Aquarian Era = spiritual age, age of the effective truth, tolerance, enlightenment, love, the knowledge, the freedom, wisdom and harmony, all of which, however, must first become acquired in a very hard struggle. The Aquarian Age lasts 2,155 years, just like every other zodiac sign age as well (according to Earth years). An Aquarian Age repeats itself after the complete passage of all zodiac sign ages, respectively, after 25,860 Earth years.

The presently begun Aquarian Age has found its beginning on the 3rd of February 1844, at 11:20 CET*. Previously, the Earth floated in the Piscean Age and edged itself, at the mentioned point in time, into the transition zone of the two ages. The total transition period amounts to 185 years, so therefore, with the beginning of the year 1937, the last swinging-waves of the Piscean Age were overcome and the Aquarian Age began to rapidly develop into its second transition phase, and indeed, with the date of the 3rd of February 1937, at 11:20 CET. In the year 2029, the transition period becomes complete and the solar system floats entirely in the gold-coloured (hence the name Golden Age) cosmos-rays of the Aquarian Age for the still remaining 1,970 years, thus the next zodiac sign age is to be expected only again at the turn of the third millennium into the fourth, which changes the SOL-system over into the zodiac sign of Capricorn with the date of Wednesday, the 3rd of February 3999, at 11:20 CET.

The influences upon our consciousness are many, and this is only a partial listing, however, not to be overlooked is the influence our thoughts and feelings have on us in terms of attitudes, beliefs, fears, habits, etc., that we harbour and reap their inevitable effects, both in the positive and in the negative.

The thoughts that we nourish, either in the positive sense or in the negative sense determine the quality of the life one leads, with regard to our personal well being, both physically as well as psychically. It is truly astonishing how our thoughts, habits and behaviours reinforce health and a balanced state of mind or lead us to depression, frustration, ill moods, sickness, etc. Of course there will always be challenges in life that we must face, however of utmost importance is the manner in which we use both positive and negative circumstances as an opportunity to learn to overcome the difficulties and grow stronger through understanding the power that we all have, to decide whether to stand strong or to crumble when faced with the slightest obstacle.

Of course, there is something to learn from both the negative and the positive circumstances because an important factor in life is being able to learn from our mistakes. This means that through making mistakes we grow in knowledge about what is the right or wrong way to go about something. And therefore this increases our abilities, learning and evolution. It also creates a balance of knowledge of both the positive and negative. The key is actually learning from our mistakes and not further propagating errors of the same ilk. This means applying neutral-positive might-oriented thinking in order to weaken the grip that unhealthy thought patterns have which have been nourished for possibly years. There is much to be said on this topic which Billy has extensively written about in The Psyche.

Ultimately the goal is freedom, peace, love and harmony, which can only be fathomed once one strives to listen to one's innermost nudging impulses for further growth and evolution and to live according to the natural creational laws and recommendations. That requires respect of all and everything and acknowledges that there is a purpose in life, that there is a constant evolution taking place which requires our full participation in honour and mutual respect, a self-responsibility for cultivating the right thoughts through the understanding and recognition of the laws of cause and effect. Only then when we see the impact that we have, through our thoughts and feelings, on ourselves and the world around us, can we see the validity of this law, and strive to live in harmony primarily within ourselves but also live to evolve as real human beings, in mutual honour, peace, freedom and love.

Für den Nächsten etwas tun...

Was kannst du, Mensch, für deinen Nächsten tun, der in seinem Leben weniger Glück hatte als du selbst? Mit Sicherheit ist es nicht damit getan, einfach zu sagen, der andere habe sich nicht so sehr bemüht wie du selbst, folglich er auch nicht so erfolgreich sein konnte. Es ist aber auch nicht damit getan, ihm vorzuwerfen, dass er nicht soviel arbeiten mochte wie du und dass Nächste nur auf deine Hilfsbereitschaft und Gutherzigkeit spekuliere.

Tatsächlich, es ist sehr leicht, so zu denken, sich dadurch ein leichtes Gewissen machen, sich von der Verantwortung gegenüber dem Nächsten zu drücken und einfach achtlos an ihm vorbeizugehen. Es ist alles so sehr leicht, weil eigens die Enthebung der Mühe erfolgt, etwas für den Nächsten tun zu müssen, denn Helfen ist anstrengend und Schwerarbeit. Doch der Mensch muss etwas – etwas tun für den andern, den Nächsten. Doch er, dieser Mensch, fragt dauernd, welche Belohnung, welches grosses Geschenk er dafür empfangen, wenn sich menschlich zeigen, den Nächsten als Mitmenschen sehen und ihn als Ichen behandeln, ihm beistehe und ihm hilfreich sei. Und er fragt sich, welchen Profit er dadurch gewinne, wenn er sein Herz öffnet für den Nächsten, den armen Menschen, der der Hilfe bedarf.

Wahrhaftig, jeder Mensch muss sich selbst die Frage beantworten: Was kann ich tun für den Nächsten, für den Mitmenschen, wie kann ich ihm helfen? Und: Was unterlasse ich in meinem Tun, um dem Nächsten, meinem Mitmenschen, zu helfen? Jeder Mensch muss sich diese Frage selbst beantworten, für sich selbst. Und stellst du dir tatsächlich diese Frage und findest du eine menschenwürdige Antwort darauf, um deine Pflicht am Nächsten, einem Mitmenschen zu erfüllen, dann wirst du einen neuen Sinn im Leben finden und ein neues Glück in deinem Dasein entdecken.

Auch wenn sich der Mensch in seinem Bewusstsein, in seinen Gedanken, Gefühlen sowie in seinem Verhalten ändert, sich durch wahrheitliches Wissen vom Glauben sowie vom Irrealen, Bösen und Schlechten zu befreien vermag, so muss er seine ihm von der Natur und vom Leben gegebene übliche Erscheinung beibehalten.

Do something for your neighbour...

What can you, the human being, do for your neighbour who is less fortunate than you in life? It is certainly not enough to simply say that the other person did not try as hard as you and could not become as successful as you. But it is also not fair to blame him/her for not wanting to work as much as you do, and to keep relying on your helpfulness and good heartedness.

In fact, it is so easy to think like this, that is, to make yourself feel lighter, to avoid responsibility towards your neighbour and simply to walk past them without paying attention. It is all quite easy because, by thinking like that, the effort of having to do something for your neighbour is instantly relieved, and helping is indeed strenuous and means hard work. But people have to do something - that is, do something for the others/their neighbours. People may also ask for the reward or the gift to be received if they show their humanity and see their neighbour as a fellow human being, and treat, support, and help him/her, like a child that needs us. People may ask themselves as well, what profit is to be gained if they open their heart to that poor person who needs help, our neighbour.

But truly, every person must answer this question for themselves: What can I do for my neighbour, for my fellow human being, how can I help him/her? And: What am I omitting in my actions to help him/her (my neighbour), my fellow human being? Every person must answer this question for themselves through their own effort, and if you indeed ask yourself this, and find a humane answer to it, and thus, fulfill your duty to your neighbour, a fellow human being, then you will find a new meaning in life and discover a new happiness in your existence.

SSSC, October 13, 2004, 5:07 p.m., Billy

Even if a person changes in his consciousness, thoughts, feelings, and behaviour, and can free himself from belief, from the unreal, evil, and bad through truthful knowledge, he/she must still retain the usual appearance given to him/her by nature and life.

RAKING LEAVES AT SSSC

Michael Uyttebroek / Tiny, ON / November 2, 2024

On Monday Oct. 21st, while raking leaves, Billy unexpectedly showed up from just around the corner of the tool and tractor garage. Keeping his distance, he asked how I was doing health-wise, referring to the cancer which had been quite intense about a year prior. We maintained direct eye contact. He was well aware of my condition and wanted to know how I was coping. I told him about how I had initially dealt with the pain, neutralising it with love which he understood, because I'm sure that's how he could deal with his own pain. Then there was talk about one's thinking, and its impact on health and he asked or used the example of a wave, going up and down...motioning this with his hand and I agreed that this was indeed the case with me, but then he quickly made the motion of going up and said that there is evolution...and so, an up and down but ultimately an evolution. And then he said something about how it takes a long time. (probably referring to the fact that it takes a long time to reach a state of equalisedness).

I then asked him if I could ask him a question and he said yes. I didn't want to impose on him, so that is why I started off that way. So I asked him that when he is dying, would he take medication to ease the pain. He responded no, he would not. I explained that in Canada, narcotics are administered when one is dying to make the dying person 'comfortable'. I explained to him that this is the go-to method used by the doctors to ease the pain. His response was well "if you don't want pain or if you want pain" ... with a smile (basically it's up to you), meaning that each person has to decide for themselves, which was a totally appropriate neutral response. Again he talked about the connection with thought and health, the effect that thinking has on one's health. He finished off with something like don't worry. He wished me good health and I reciprocated the same back to him and he was off and I was back to raking leaves.

Meeting with Christian Fehner – Oct. 23, 2024

The main question for Christian was the meaning behind “Mein Geist, der du bist in Allmacht” ... actually, the Mein Geist part, what was Geist referring to? Originally the understanding of Geist had changed from ‘spirit’ to ‘consciousness’ but recently the term Geist was being interpreted as Creation-energy part-piece. However, he explained that part-piece was not a good description and it is more like a swinging wave...like an individualised swinging wave is my interpretation... so Creation-energy individualised swinging wave is better way to describe it, because part-piece or ‘Teilstück’ in German, is a material description of something which is energy and has no form. So with that explanation, the Mein Geist prayer takes on a new meaning in that it is addressing the innermost self...the part of Creation-energy which is in the person, enlivening the person. There was also the discussion that one does not need to know consciously exactly what the process is when doing the Mein Geist prayer, but that the subconscious knows how to correctly understand it. The intent is what is important, even if the pronunciation is not quite right.

Another question posed to Christian was relating to the Creation-energy within a person not being planet-bound. It was based on a comment in Contact Report 883 in which Billy touches upon this topic. Although this is not something that would be deemed necessary to know in order to be a real human being, we found this topic to be of interest. This question had been initially brought up by Paul Saleh, a passive member from Canada who regularly attends our public meetings. We brought the topic up to see what Christian would say. In conclusion it was determined that logically, as the Creation-energy within the person evolves, it gains more power and therefore has more capabilities at its disposal. So as an analogy, first a person learns to walk, then uses a bicycle, a car, a plane...in each case there is greater mobility and distance that one can cover, depending on the fuel/ energy source, power, etc. Likewise it would make sense that at some point, it could be possible for this Creation-energy to no longer be planet-bound. But this would definitely not apply to the Earth-human being as we are much too low in our evolution.

Elaborating this point further is a statement from Guido Moosbrugger’s book Diversikum p. 254: “The first level of the fine-material matter is the half-spirit level ‘High Council’ with the half-spirit-forms that no longer have a gross material body. The life forms of this level are not visible - like a translucent veil - but they are no longer tangible. They do not simply move freely in space but are a kind of wobbling form of matter and are still planet-bound. The half-spirit level is a transitional level that leads from the coarse material into the fine-material, respectively, into the first pure-spirit level ‘Arahat Athersata’.”

So as a final conclusion, it would seem that unless the Creation-energy part-piece has evolved very highly, perhaps even to the last levels of the half-material/ half creation-energetical, would the possibility unfold that it is no longer planet-bound in the reincarnational process. This however is still a mystery and may remain so for a long time. In any case, this has no bearing to one being a real human being, one who consciously strives to live according to the natural creational laws and recommendation and recognises that we are fully responsible for our thoughts, feelings and actions.

WE COULD'VE CHOSEN PARADISE BUT WE TURNED AWAY...

by Catherine Mossman / Tiny, ON / November 17, 2024

Imagine living in a society of cooperation where everyone worked in harmony and according to the natural laws. We here on Earth, for the large part, are still stuck in a materialistic and competitive mind-set that ignores our connection with each other and the world around us. Out of that mindset comes so much waste and damage to our planet.

All the differing and non-recyclability and non-interchangeability of parts between the makes of cars and brands of washing machines, phones, toasters, etc... all the throwaway, cheap plastic things, that end up littering our environment, destroying and exterminating our fauna and flora, breaking down, and getting into the bloodstream, disrupting our hormones, causing cancers, on and on, indicate our total lack of any perception of the laws of the Creation. This total disregard allows us to take no responsibility; we don't think twice about the true costs of our thoughtless habits of consumption, and the roles we play in creating the living hell that surrounds us.

I remember how it was for my own parents and grandparents. Necessity was the mother of invention for them... they knew frugality and conservation. You should've seen the string and twine collection and all the bits and bats my parents kept around for 'just in case'. The ability to repair things, the joy of 'MacGyvering' that my dad would spend hours on to come up with his own fixes for things, in the name of efficiency and self-responsibility. It wasn't that long ago that our late ancestors were a lot more resilient and self-sufficient in that regard. The Plejaren hold responsibility for efficiency and non-waste to the highest degree.

It's quite interesting to read the following snippet from a 2009 contact that Billy had with Ptaah about how they deal with their material goods, and take care not to create waste, or redundancy. Although they don't have 'brands' per se, they do have only one make of everything they do have, which makes the most sense, and the least waste. They don't live in a system based on accumulation of goods, nor is theirs a system based on currency and enslavement to earning it in order to be provided for. They are all provided with whatever they need. There is plenty to go around when the population lives in balance with the sustainable levels of their world.

The Plejaren creed of non-waste, and making things that are repairable and are guaranteed to have replacement parts for, for a LONG time, hearken back to the similar mind-set of our ancestors. If we, collective humanity, had adopted a more conservative, agreed-upon limiting of selection in our consumption of 'things' perhaps we would've drastically altered the trajectory to where we now find ourselves now, surrounded by seas of waste and unbreathable air.

WE COULD'VE CHOSEN...continues

Even the early days of the production of the Model T automobile, circa 1908, Henry Ford had a memorable quip:

“Any customer can have a car painted any color that he wants so long as it is black.”

Imagine if Ford had stayed true to keeping costs down by just having the one car, or the one colour. He was even making inroads into sustainability back in the 1940's:

Ford's 1941 bio-plastic Model T was made of hemp, flax, wheat, and spruce pulp, which made the car lighter than fiberglass and ten times tougher than steel, wrote the New York Times on February 2, 1941. The car ran on ethanol made from hemp or other agricultural waste. It was called the 'Soybean Car'.

If only we could all recognise and live by the Creational natural laws...we'd be in such a better place, wouldn't we? Eventually, perhaps we'll come to our senses and take a page from the book of the Plejaren's societal framework and return our Earth to the paradise it inherently is.

From Contact Report 476, February 3, 2009

[Ptaah has asked Billy, 'what is this?'...]

Oh, this is an antique camera. At least 70 years old, but the bellows is completely broken. Found it in my things yesterday and now I want to throw it away.

Ach, das ist ein uralter Photoapparat. Mindestens 70 Jahre alt, doch der Ausziehbalg ist völlig kaputt. Habe ihn gestern in meinen Sachen gefunden und will ihn nun wegwerfen.

Ptaah: 7. Ah, why is that?

7. Ah, warum denn?

8. Are you not going to have the apparatus repaired, it seems to be in order otherwise, no?

8. Willst du den Apparat nicht reparieren lassen, er scheint doch sonst in Ordnung zu sein?

Billy: You are good, the thing can no longer be repaired, because the components no longer exist.

Du bist gut, das Ding kann man doch nicht mehr reparieren lassen, denn dazu gibt es doch keine Bestandteile mehr.

Ptaah: 9. Why not?

9. Warum denn nicht?

Billy: After all this time, what do you think! Yes, it is even worse today, because after only a few months or after a year or two one cannot get anything repaired because it is just too expensive or because there are no more components. We have also been unable to get any for our old VOLVO for a long time now, at the scrap dealer at the most. The curse is that there are also different brands of all things, so one cannot use one for another.

Nach so langer Zeit, was denkst du denn! Heute ist es ja noch schlimmer, denn schon nach wenigen Monaten oder nach einem Jahr oder zwei kann man nichts mehr reparieren lassen, weil es einfach zu teuer ist oder weil es keine Bestandteile mehr gibt. Auch für unseren alten VOLVO erhalten wir schon lange keine mehr, höchstens noch beim Schrotthandel. Das Übel dabei ist, dass eben auch von allen Dingen verschiedenste Marken existieren, so man nicht von einer für eine andere Bestandteile verwenden kann.

Ptaah: 10. That is awful, that does not happen with us.

10. Das ist übel, das gibt es bei uns nicht.

Billy: Then you have it good. If something breaks, how long can you keep fixing things?

Dann habt ihr es gut. Wenn euch etwas kaputtgeht, wie lange Zeit könnt ihr die Dinge denn noch reparieren?

Ptaah: 11. First of all, with us, for every acquisition, no matter what kind it is, small or big, there is only one form of production, respectively, one brand, as you say, worldwide.

11. Erstens gibt es bei uns für eine jede Errungenschaft, ganz gleich welcher Art sie ist, klein oder gross, weltweit nur eine Produktionsform resp. eine Marke, wie du sagst.

12. And secondly, our production is geared to ensuring that repairs can be made to small appliances and equipment, etc. in the event of damage occurring for 70 years, because components can be produced for this purpose during this period if required.

12. Und zweitens sind unsere Produktionen darauf ausgerichtet, dass für kleine Geräte und Apparaturen

usw. bei auftretenden Schäden während 70 Jahren Reparaturen vorgenommen werden können, weil dafür während dieser Zeit bei Bedarf Bestandteile hergestellt werden können.

13. For large devices and large apparatus, such as our planetary and space-worthy flying machines, etc., a period of 350 years is specified.

13. Für Grossgeräte und Grossapparaturen, wie z.B. unsere planetaren und weltraumtüchtigen Fluggeräte usw., ist gar eine Zeit von 350 Jahren festgelegt.

14. We are careful to use as few resources of our and other planets as possible and also to take care of the environment.

14. Wir sind darauf bedacht, so wenig Ressourcen wie möglich unseres und anderer Planeten zu nutzen und auch zur Umwelt Sorge zu tragen.

15. Waste products are therefore avoided, so everything is designed so that everything can be recycled.

15. Abfallprodukte werden daher vermieden, folglich alles so ausgerichtet ist, dass alles einer Wiederverwertung zugeführt werden kann.

Billy: So only one brand per product, I think that makes sense. Yes this is only possible because you produce all and everything of use on a social basis and do not know of money anymore, therefore everything is produced by the people and every human being receives everything necessary of every kind, which he/she needs or what they simply want.

Je nur eine Marke von einem Produkt, das finde ich vernünftig. Doch das ist ja sicher nur möglich, weil ihr alles und jedes des Gebrauchs auf sozialem Untergrund herstellt und kein Geld mehr kennt, folglich jedes Ding volksmässig produziert wird und jeder Mensch alles Notwendige jeder Art erhält, wessen er bedarf oder was er einfach will.

Ptaah: 16. A fact that also contributes to the fact that there is no crime in our country, because every person can get everything he/she needs or wants at any time.

16. Eine Tatsache, die auch dazu beiträgt, dass es bei uns keine Kriminalität gibt, weil jede Person jederzeit alles erhalten kann, was sie benötigt oder haben will.

17. This system, however, requires that means of payment are no longer needed, so we also no longer have them.

17. Dieses System erfordert aber, dass keine Zahlungsmittel mehr benötigt werden, folglich wir auch nicht mehr über solche verfügen.

Billy: And what about garbage and litter and so forth? When I think of the packaging mania that exists here on Earth, which generates billions of tons of waste and billions of dollars, I am terrified.

Und wie steht es denn mit Abfällen und Unrat usw.? Wenn ich an den Verpackungswahn denke, der bei uns auf der Erde existiert, durch den Milliarden von Tonnen Abfall und Milliarden von Geldbeträgen anfallen, dann graut es mir.

Ptaah: 18. That is not the case here, because all goods are handed out to the population without packaging, with a few exceptions, where the packaging decays after a long time of self-decomposition and decomposes back into its natural components.

18. Das ist bei uns nicht der Fall, denn alle Güter werden der Bevölkerung verpackungsfrei ausgehändigt, mit wenigen Ausnahmen, bei denen die Verpackungen nach geraumer Zeit einer Selbstersetzung verfallen und sich wieder in ihre natürlichen Bestandteile zersetzen.

19. If it concerns materials that do not completely disintegrate back into their original components, such as things made of materials such as metal, glass, crystal and plastic, etc., which we of course also produce, then these are collected completely and sent for recycling.

19. Handelt es sich um Materialien, die sich nicht restlos wieder in ihre ursprünglichen Bestandteile auflösen, wie z.B. Dinge aus Materialien wie Metall, Glas, Kristall und Kunststoff usw., die wir natürlich auch herstellen, dann werden diese restlos gesammelt und der Wiederverwertung zugeführt.

20. This also happens with devices and equipment, etc., which can no longer be used, so we do not have any wear and tear on any materials.

20. Dies geschieht auch mit Geräten und Apparaturen usw., die nicht mehr gebraucht werden können, folglich wir keinen Verschleiss an irgendwelchen Materialien haben.

21. Our entire population is careful to observe this order, so that no one produces waste, rubbish or refuse because otherwise it would be impossible to keep nature and the entire environment clean.

21. Unsere gesamte Bevölkerung ist dabei darauf bedacht, diese Ordnung einzuhalten, folglich niemand Abfälle, Unrat oder Kehricht erzeugt, denn anderweitig würde das Reinehalten der Natur und der gesamten Umwelt verunmöglicht.

Billy: Then you have not got any incinerators or garbage disposal plants or garbage dumps in nature.

Dann gibt es bei euch keine Kehrichtverbrennungs- und Kehrichtvernichtungsanlagen oder Kehrichtablagerungen in der Natur.

Ptaah: 22. No, we do not have that, because such things, like money and crime, are also phenomena that only occur in cultures that are still in a state of low progress.

22. Nein, das gibt es bei uns nicht, denn solche Dinge, wie auch Geld und Kriminalität sind Erscheinungen, die nur bei Kulturen in Erscheinung treten, die noch in einem Zustand niedrigen Fortkommens leben.

BRINGING LIGHT TO THE DARKNESS; THE FORCES AT WORK... FROM PISCES TO AQUARIUS

by Catherine Mossman / Tiny, ON / November 22, 2024

Don't we stand at a pivotal time in our history? On the one hand we have the proclaimer of the new age, Billy Meier, guiding humankind on a course to reclaim our innate connection to all that is Creational and on the other, we have other humans who've brought us to where we now stand, staring at the potential of nuclear war and worldwide devastation.

Of course, given the urgency of our world situation, we all fervently hold optimistic hopes that cooler heads will prevail. However, now, being November 2024, on the eve of Trump 2.0 coming in, it seems that the forces at work behind the current senile head of state of the USA are doing everything they can to make the inherited geopolitical landscape as bad as possible for the new Trump administration that will take the governmental reins in two months. More importantly, in the meantime, hundreds of thousands of poor innocent victims and soldiers of the various evil campaigns, perpetrated by the regimes of the USA, NATO, Ukraine, Russia, Israel, die horrible deaths, or are maimed for life and the populations of countries are upheaved and displaced. And, as this is being written, renewed and increased frenzies of NATO belligerence and provocation abound as NATO, the USA and the UK up the ante by becoming directly involved in Ukraine/Russia ridiculousness.

In terms of the negative 'forces at work', it has become increasingly obvious to all, and any paying attention, that the heads of state seem to be figureheads more than anything. As historians start to dig into previously classified information and assemble the data the picture becomes clear that there are indeed forces at work behind the scenes, working on agendas that are at complete odds with what the so-called leaders promise in their campaigns for election. And whether those promises are in earnest or not, it ultimately occurs that the ones actually holding the power are not the politicians, at least not the leaders of the so-called western 'democracies'.

Following in the same vein, in this contact report #544, of Sept 1st, 2012 between Billy and Ptaah they discuss the presidency of Barrack Obama, however, could it not apply to many other leaders as well?

Billy: Yet you have explained in this connection that the whole of the corresponding body of thought and action does not originate with him [Obama], but with those who practically forced him to give his orders and signatures in accordance with their will and demand. You said that he himself would be practically mightless, even though might is officially attributed to him and it would be held against him that he alone would be able to decide about the deadly drone missions and in this respect would have taken the rudder directly to himself, whereby he was, is and will also be held responsible for the most diverse military and political machinations that did not, e.g. do not, correspond to his ideas. Although he is a very mighty man, he is nevertheless dependent on his advisers as well as on all those who have the might to advise him disingenuously, to influence, to direct and to force him according to their will. These mighty ones are the highest of the military, the department of war and defence, the secret services, but as well as also politicians, consultants, confidants, banks, the stock exchange and the groups of companies dealing with machines, pharmaceuticals and armaments and the government elites and religious-sectarian leaders, etc.

Doch dazu hast du erklärt, dass das Ganze des diesbezüglichen Gedankenguts und Handelns nicht den Ursprung bei ihm findet, sondern bei jenen, welche ihn praktisch dazu zwangen, seine Anordnungen und Unterschriften gemäss deren Willen und Verlangen zu geben. Er selbst sei praktisch machtlos, hast du gesagt, auch wenn ihm offiziell Macht zugesprochen und ihm angelastet werde, dass er allein über die tödlichen Drohneneinsätze zu bestimmen und diesbezüglich das Ruder direkt an sich gerissen habe, wobei er weiter auch für verschiedenste militärische und politische Machenschaften verantwortlich gemacht wurde, wird und werde, die nicht seinen Ideen entsprachen resp. entsprechen. Zwar ist er ein sehr mächtiger Mann, doch ist er von seinen Ratgebern sowie von all jenen abhängig, welche die Macht haben, ihn nach ihrem Willen hinterhältig zu beraten, zu beeinflussen und zu lenken und zu zwingen. Diese Mächtigen sind die Obersten des Militärs, des Kriegs- und Verteidigungsministeriums, der Geheimdienste, wie aber auch Politiker, Berater, Vertraute, Banken, die Börse und die Maschinen-, Pharmazie- und Rüstungskonzerne und die Regierungseliten und religions-sektiererischen Führer usw.

What is astounding is the extent of the evil that just a few people in positions of power, financed by rich robber-barons, can perpetrate. They have the ability to implement their own agendas, often at odds, or in total disdain of, the policy objectives of the elected politicians. Some of them are even supposedly working under the auspices of a given government, but arrogantly run their own agencies as little fiefdoms, and do what they and their acolytes think is best... and that 'best' is not only counter to the wishes of their political leaders but is according to how much money can be made in the objective of expansion of capital, vis-à-vis subjugation and enslavement of peoples and their resources, be it at home or in foreign countries. If this means the 'elimination' of any threat via regime change and or assassination that is par for the course.

Interestingly, or coincidentally, a sober and eye-opening book that came across my radar lately. It is an in-depth historical work by investigative journalist David Talbot that documents the lives and characters of the good, bad and innocent who impacted or were impacted by world events of our recent history, from World War II on, entitled: The Devil's Chessboard. Allen Dulles, the CIA, and the Rise of America's Secret Government, published in 2016 by Harper Perennial. David Talbot: "The American people have only gained access to this hidden history as a result of concerted political pressure, and [yet] agencies such as the CIA still remain defiantly opposed to fully disclosing the information they are required to under federal law."

What really stood out to me is the extent to which one key player, Allen Dulles, could clandestinely affect deleterious outcomes for peoples and countries worldwide via his network of spies and saboteurs, both when the US entered World War II and after. For example, he allegedly cultivated relationships with the big companies that enriched themselves from the spoils of war and made sure their interests were being taken care of. During the war it was reported that he saw to it that boatloads of Jewish refugees were not allowed to land, forcing them to turn back to Europe to go to their deaths. After the war it was also reported that he aided Nazi's to find comfortable lives in America.

Later, as head of the CIA, Dulles could be characterised as one of these 'disingenuous advisors' that Billy speaks of, who continued to influence and redirect events against the wishes of the two presidents he served (Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy). He continued to prevail over a loyal ring of spies dedicated to tracking down and crushing purported 'communist threats' to democracy (read: threats to the robber barons and magnates) that might be raising their heads around the world.

The last time the world was on a knife's edge, with possible nuclear Armageddon on our doorstep, was thanks to a scheme run by Dulles and co. After the CIA-hatched 'Bay of Pigs' debacle, whereby clandestine operatives directed disgruntled Cuban expats in an attempted overthrow/ murder of Fidel Castro, a threatened proxy nuclear war with the USSR resulted. The anti-soviet US war-machine was champing at the bit to carry this out. Kennedy's security advisors and generals cajoled him to give them the go ahead, but he stayed firm and refused. Kennedy and his younger brother Robert, who was Attorney General, worked closely together; both of these men sought peace and were able to establish a détente with the Soviets. After this CIA-caused international disaster, Kennedy was able to fire Dulles in November of 1961. This was not done lightly or easily as Kennedy was well aware of the matrix of connections Dulles had to the true power brokers in Washington and beyond, i.e. to what Billy referred to as the: "war and defence, the secret services, but as well as also [rogue] politicians, consultants, confidants, banks, the stock exchange and the groups of companies dealing with machines, pharmaceuticals and armaments and the government elites and religious-sectarian leaders, etc."

After Dulles was out of the CIA and out of a job, many of his loyalists remained in the Kennedy administration, and so they continued with their allegiance to Dulles, seeking his advice and following his orders. Dulles, nursed great resentment and enmity toward Kennedy and was happy to continue wheeling and dealing in order to thwart Kennedy's aims. These aims of Kennedy's were a great threat to the rich and powerful business moguls as well who duly continued seeking the services of Dulles, the 'fixer', to make sure things kept going their way. John F. Kennedy was assassinated two years after Dulles' firing, on November 22, 1963. The truth of the events which unfurled before, on, and after that fateful day, as well as five years later, to do with his brother Robert F. Kennedy's assassination, have been kept buried by the deep state to this day.

BRINGING LIGHT TO DARKNESS...continues

But it didn't have to be this way, nor does it have to continue so. The US is in the dying days of a lame-duck presidency, and perhaps even in its dying days as the global hegemon. With Trump purporting peace, we sincerely hope that things will not boil over into nuclear war in the next two months, due to the desperate flailings of the current people running the show. The appointment of Robert F. Kennedy Junior by Trump to be the new head of Health and Human Services, is a positive sign. Perhaps, like his father and uncle before him, he will continue with their aims for the betterment of the citizens of the US as he goes to battle to reform the health care behemoths. Overall, we can only hope that in the future, be it through this administration or not, that inroads will be made on all fronts and that slowly the hypocrisies and lies of the deep state will continue to be brought to the light of day.

The gist of this snapshot of history is not to linger in negative perambulations but to reiterate how important it is to hear the truth of what occurred in our collective, and not so distant, past. It is important to acknowledge what havoc just one man can wreak and to uncover that which has been kept under wraps in our history books. What occurs in the minds of a few psychopaths and malcontents who shape outcomes that have wide-ranging negative impacts on the welfare of humanity and the planet is to be exposed and brought to justice. These people need to be separated from society in order to think about what terrible things they have wrought.

As long as the deep state runs things they will work to keep the masses distracted with bread and Taylor Swift, er, circuses. Life is hard and almost impossible for so many human beings on our planet now. And this is largely due to those who've been calling the shots and leading the way to potential mutually assured destruction, be it via wars OR by climate holocausts that have arisen largely from the money- and power-making machinations of the industrialists. The Western military-industrial complex is still, to this day, in 2024, dedicated to maintaining cold-war hostilities towards its perceived enemies and still 'chomping at the bit' to engage in nuclear war. Either way, it is the policies of these malevolent ones that have run us up against the wall.

However, on the positive side of things: We now have another man, another single human being, who takes his place in history, whose far-reaching impact will have worldwide implications for millennia to come. But those implications are positive and good. 'Billy' Eduard Albert Meier sows seeds of peace, harmony, love, freedom... these seeds have found small patches of fertile ground, and will continue to grow and spread as we move into the light of the age of Aquarius. Contrary to deep-state manipulators, Meier brings great and beneficial outcomes for our collective future. He strongly encourages us to tap into ourselves to find the power within and to draw out all that is good. In doing so we relearn what true humanity is. Turning to the teaching of the Creation-energy leads humans to learn what truth is, which is inextinguishable through death. As evidenced by the multiple assassination attempts on Meier's life, however, what he has to share with humanity is a threat to the powers that be, however, this threat cannot and will not be extinguished. Now is the time to focus on and embrace the positive influences that are at work in the emergent Aquarian age and time to leave the malevolencies, that were at work in the dying days of the Piscean age, to dwindle out.

Long in the future, these dark events of our recent past will be vastly eclipsed by the re-emergence of the light of the Creation-energetical teaching and illuminate the pathways walked by humankind, bringing us out of the darkness perpetuated by the the rich and mighty ones, to that which is truly rich and mighty and inextinguishable within each of us. Thus, it is inevitable that we evolve in love, peace, harmony and freedom...and we need not fear for the future.
